Today's Feature

6 Darnell Stephens

This senior outside linebacker has served the Clemson defense from three different positions over his career. This year he has juggled marriage, academics and a leadership role to have his finest season as a Tiger.

40 Tiger Basketball

Rick Barnes has only five returning players from last year, but that does not dampen his enthusiasm or optimism about his first Clemson team. Devin Gray has returned to the court after an April heart attack and hopes to return to his All-ACC form.

50 Michael Barber

This linebacker from Edgemore, SC has been Clemson's most productive tackler on a per play basis for many years. He has fought off persistent injury problems to help Clemson to one of the top scoring and rushing defenses in the nation.

61 Wardell Rouse

Most junior college transfers need a transition period when they move to the Division I level. That was not the case for Wardell Rouse, who is the first junior college transfer to serve as a two-year starter for the Tigers. The native of Florida has the speed to play at the next level.

73 The McFadden Building

Many of you have noticed construction going on at the Jervey Athletic Center this fall. The McFadden Building, an annex to the Jervey Athletic Center, should be ready in February. It will provide offices and needed meeting rooms for the Clemson football staff, and also help all the sports at Clemson by providing office space in the Jervey Center for assistant coaches.

76 Hall of Fame

The Hall of Fame class of 1994 is composed of seven members. The group includes two women, Mitzi Kremer and Annie Tribble, who made record setting contributions to the Clemson program.

79 Lady Tiger Basketball

Coach Jim Davis is running up Hall of Fame numbers as Annie Tribble's replacement. He has guided Clemson to seven straight NCAA appearances, something only 10 schools in the nation can boast. With the return of three-point marksman Tara Saunooke, and some promising newcomers, the outlook is good for another NCAA bid.

Today's Program features the careers of Clemson's Hall of Fame inductees, three senior linebackers who have made a difference, and one of their coaches, defensive coordinator Miles Aldridge

111 Miles Aldridge

Clemson's defensive coordinator is in his second tour of duty with the Tiger defense. He has had one common denominator in his two terms, a nationally ranked defense. He is a coach who has used "brutal honesty" with his players to his benefit over the years.

112 The Last Word

When Clemson played Georgia Tech in the forties, fifties and sixties, the contest was always played in Atlanta. Now, with Georgia Tech in the ACC, the Yellow Jackets come to Clemson on a regular basis. Rarely did Clemson win in Atlanta, but Frank Howard's last season, the Tigers pulled off the upset.

On the Cover: Clemson's quartet of senior linebackers have led Clemson to top 20 national defense rankings each of the last four years. Three of the four (see Tim Jones next week) are featured on today's program cover. Darnell Stephens is an outside linebacker who was a freshman All-American as a safety in 1991. Wardell Rouse has been one of the most successful junior college transfers in Clemson history, and Michael Barber is the single most productive Clemson tackler in the decade of the 1990s.

Welch Becomes Clemson's Scoring Leader

Nelson Welch had one of the most gratifying performances of his career at North Carolina last Saturday when he kicked five field goals and an extra point to lead Clemson to a 28-17 victory. Welch tied his own Clemson record for field goals in a game and also became Clemson's career scoring leader in the process. The graduate student now has 292 career points, four more than Obed Ariri had between 1977-80.

Welch also had five field goals in a game against N.C. State in 1991 and at Maryland in 1992. Clemson won that N.C. State game 29-19, and the Pack was ranked 12th in the nation coming into that game. North Carolina was also ranked 12th in the nation coming into last week's game (USA Today).

Welch now has 70 field goals in his career (including two in bowl games). He is Clemson's and the ACC's career leader in total field goals and is now the league's number five scorer. He has 283 career points in the eyes of the ACC. The league does not count bowl competition. The only ACC players ahead of Welch in terms of career scoring are N.C. State's Ted Brown (312), Maryland's Jess Atkinson (308), Georgia Tech's Scott Sisson (299) and Maryland's Rick Badanjek (286). So, Welch needs 30 points over the last two games to become the ACC's all-time leading scorer. He needs 26 points to become the league's all-time leading kick scorer. He is already third in ACC history in career kick scoring.

Welch owns or has tied 14 Clemson records in his career. The only major career record remaining is for most field goals of 40 yards or more. The native of Greer, SC currently has 21 career field goals of 40 yards or more, two short of the Clemson record held by Chris Gardocki, who had 23 between 1988-90.

Senior Linebackers Leading Defense

The cover of today's program features three senior linebackers, Darnell Stephens, Wardell Rouse and Michael Barber. This threesome plus Tim Jones (who will be on the cover of next week's South Carolina program) have been the nucleus of Clemson's defense this year. All four players rank in the top five Clemson tacklers. Tim Jones leads the way with 94, Barber has 74, Darnell Stephens 65 and Wardell Rouse 55.

The four senior linebackers were Clemson's top four tacklers in the victory over North Carolina. The group combined for 33 tackles, including six tackles for loss and four sacks. Jones led the way with 10 tackles, while Barber had nine. Stephens had the most big plays to go with his eight tackles. The native of Texas had three tackles for loss, two sacks and a pass broken up. Rouse had a 10-yard sack among his six tackles.

Nineteenth ranked North Carolina gained just 11 yards rushing, by far their season low, against the Tiger defense. In fact, it was the 12th fewest rushing yards allowed by a Clemson team in history and the fourth best rushing defense in Clemson history in an ACC game.

The four senior linebackers have played 144 games collectively, made 85 starts, and racked up 809 career tackles, including 53 for losses. One of the four has led the team in tackles in seven of the nine games this year and 14 of the last 21 over two years.

Over the last four years Clemson's rushing defense has allowed just 2.94 yards per carry, 103.3 yards per game and in 19 of the 44 games not allowed the opposition to gain over 100 yards on the ground. This group of linebackers has had a lot to do with those stats.

Here are the career stats of Clemson's four senior starting linebackers

All Freshmen Backfield

Clemson had its highest scoring game of the year in the 28-17 victory over North Carolina. That was quite an accomplishment for many reasons. North Carolina was coming off a resounding, confidence building victory over rival N.C. State, a contest in which they held the Pack to 17 points. It was the final home game for the North Carolina seniors, and the Heels were ranked 12th in the USA Today poll and in contention for a major bowl bid.

Despite these factors, Clemson's all first-year freshman backfield of Nealon Greene, Lamont Pegues and Raymond Priester led the Tigers to the 28 points, seven scoring drives, no turnovers and over 34 minutes in terms of time of possession.

Pegues, a native of North Carolina who took great pride in the Clemson victory, was the top rusher in the game with 72 yards in 20 attempts and two touchdowns. He more than doubled the rushing yardage picked up by North Carolina's tailback combination of Leon Johnson and Curtis Johnson. Priester had 63 yards in 20 attempts and his tough running in the fourth quarter allowed Clemson to run out the clock.

Greene, who was not inserted into the starting lineup until just minutes prior to kickoff, connected on 9-12 passes for 104 yards. His 42-yard pass to Marcus Hinton on Clemson's first drive of the game, set the tone for the day and led to a one-yard run by Pegues, Clemson's first touchdown drive on its initial possession this season.

Greene has now gone 70 straight pass attempts without an interception and has completed 57 percent of his passes. If the season ended today, his completion percentage would be the fourth best in Clemson history. Mike Eppley holds the record with a 59.6 percent mark in 1983. The only others higher than Greene's current percentage are 59.0 by Chris Morocco in 1989 and 58.3 percent by Joe Net Berry in 1935. Greene is ahead of the freshman record of 54.7 by Willie Jordan in 1975.

Improvement in 1994

It is obvious that Clemson will not reach last year's victory total of nine, but in many ways this year's team is improved over the 1993 edition. This has been the case of late when comparing Clemson results to those of last year. Over the last three weeks Clemson has played the three teams it lost to in 1993. The 1994 edition is 2-1 against Florida State, Wake Forest and North Carolina.

In addition to the 2-1 record vs. a 0-3 mark in 1993, the point differential is 95 points better in 1994 compared to 1993. Clemson was 40 points better against the Seminoles (0-57 vs. 0-17 losses), 20 points better against Wake Forest (16-20 loss vs. 24-8 victory) and 35 points better against North Carolina (0-24 loss vs. 28-17 victory).

Clemson has two games remaining, both at home, against Georgia Tech and South Carolina. Clemson defeated the Yellow Jackets and the Gamecocks by identical 16-13 scores last year.

Clemson is also improved this year in terms of rushing defense (129 yards/game in 1993 vs. 104 yards/per game in 1994), turnover margin (+0.9 in 1993 vs. +1.88 in 1994), and total defense (338 yards allowed/game in 1993 vs. 323 allowed per game in 1994).

Clemson Victorious over Top 20 Tar Heels

Clemson defeated a top 20 team on the road last week, as North Carolina was ranked 12th by USA Today and 19th by AP heading into the game. It was the first time Clemson had downed a ranked team on the road since 1992 when Clemson won at Virginia, 29-28. Virginia was ranked 10th by AP heading into that game.

Greene has the fourth best completion percentage in Clemson history.

Clemson has six wins on the road over top 20 teams since 1981 and three of them have now come at Chapel Hill. Clemson downed the eighth ranked Tar Heels in Chapel Hill in 1981 by a 10-8 score on the way to its only National Championship in history. Two years later Clemson defeated a 10th ranked Tar Heel team by a 16-3 score. The other road top 20 wins since 1981 took place at Florida State (34-23) in 1989, at Georgia (31-28) in 1986, and the Virginia game in 1992.

This was Tommy West's third game this year against a ranked opponent. He has been competitive with all three. The Tigers lost at Duke, 19-13 on a blocked punt in the final four minutes of play, and at Florida State 17-0. So, it took West just three games to defeat a top 20 team. By the way, Clemson has now beaten at least one top 20 team nine consecutive seasons.

Georgia Tech Update

Georgia Tech enters this weekend's Clemson game with a 1-7 record, but they have been competitive with many nationally ranked teams. Those of you who witnessed Tech's 19-14 opening night loss to a top 10 Arizona team on ESPN will agree with that. Tech was also within a touchdown of beating N.C. State and North Carolina, both on the road.

Four players stand out for Tech and will be worth paying particular attention to this afternoon. Quarterback Tommy Luginbill, the son of former San Diego State Head Coach Al Luginbill, has thrown for nearly 2,000 yards this season and completed 55 percent of his passes. He already has two 300-yard passing games to his credit and ranks second in the conference in total offense with a 222-yard average.

His favorite receiver is Charlie Simmons, who has 27 catches for 407 yards and five touchdowns. That is an average of 15 yards a catch. Punter Jason Bender is the top kicker in the league and among the top five in the country, thanks to a 45.2 average.

While Clemson has four outstanding senior linebackers, Georgia Tech has one in its own right. Senior Jamal Cox of Baltimore, MD certainly has the size (6-3, 230) to play on Sundays next year. He leads the ACC in tackles per game with 14.4. He has had double figures in every game so far this year and has 364 total tackles for his career. He has been over the century mark three straight years. He had 21 tackles in the season opener against Arizona.

Clemson 1995 Football Schedule Announced

Clemson Athletic Director Bobby Robinson has announced the Tigers' 1995 football schedule. The schedule is drastically different from previously released schedules and Clemson fans who have made plans for next fall in conjunction with Clemson football week-ends should take note of this new schedule.

Every year in late fall or early winter ACC athletic directors meet to finalize the league schedule. This meeting took place in Greensboro on November 2.

Clemson will play six games at home in 1995, including five against teams that likely will go to bowls this year. Conference members Florida State, Virginia, North Carolina and Duke will travel to Clemson, as will SEC foe Georgia. Clemson and Georgia are not scheduled to meet after the 1995 meeting at Death Valley on October 7. Clemson will open the season at home against Western Carolina.

For the second straight season Clemson will be on the road much of the middle of the schedule. The Tigers had just one home game in a 48-day stretch in 1994 and that will be nearly the same situation in 1995. Clemson will have just one home game in a 41-day stretch between September 24 and November 3. Georgia, on October 7, will be Clemson's only home game in October.

Special days, such as Homecoming, Hall of Fame Day, Parents' Day and IPTAY Day, will be announced at a later date.

The Carolina Panthers will also play their home games at Clemson in 1995. Although the NFL schedule will not be released until February, the Panthers and Tigers are not expected to play on the same weekend. The Panthers have been placed in the NFC West so we know that the San Francisco 49ers, the Los Angeles Rams, the New Orleans Saints and the Atlanta Falcons will all be coming to Clemson next year.

You probably wouldn't pick Darnell Stephens out of a crowd of 12,000 faces on the Clemson campus. He's not a seven foot giant, he doesn't have the highest GPA in the class, and he isn't the class clown that attracts a lot of attention. He doesn't wear lots of jewelry or flashy clothes, as a matter of fact, you can probably see him riding around campus on his moped from class to class.

What you can't see about Darnell Stephens is what is hidden below the surface of that "average" exterior. He's a guy who quietly steps back and observes, one who listens, takes mental notes, hears what you say when you speak, and one who talks directly and sincerely to you. He's a "what you see is what you get" kind of guy. If he doesn't like something, he'll tell you, but he'll also be sure to tell you when he does like something.

His personality on the field is quite different from that of the every-day Darnell. Gone is that quiet serenity, the fun and relaxed attitude. Out comes a leader, a strong, fearsome, focused player who makes him look as if nothing can stop him, and there isn't too much that can. This 6-0, 229-pound, outside linebacker from San Antonio, Texas, packs a lot of punch into his average-size frame. His bone-crushing mentality and quick step make him a force to be reckoned with on the field. He's the guy who opponent offensive coaches prepare for, he's the one that they need to stop if they want to get around the Clemson defense.

"I'm a very enthusiastic player. I get excited to play and I become a very intense person. I have to show emotion. If I'm quiet, the players know that there's something wrong with me. I'm not normally a quiet person out there. I like to express my emotions, I like to talk, so if I'm not talking or showing my emotions, something is definitely wrong." Darnell is focused and ready to take on any challenge, one game at a time, one play at a time. As a senior, the newly married student-athlete has met those challenges throughout his career and expects to continue meeting them throughout this season.

"I've always had a say-so as far as the team goes, as a leader. But being a senior in my last year, being a part of a team that's grown up over the last few weeks and months, I have a lot of pride this season," says Stephens. "I've tried to show the young guys pride. I've tried to make this year as spectacular as ever for them. Things are not going as well as they should have, but it's a growing process for them and also for me."

The situation that the Tigers, and Darnell personally, are in right now could cause any player to lose focus, to readjust their thinking for the distant future, not the near future. But the near future is what is important to Darnell, goals are made at the beginning of the season, and are carried through to the end.

"My personal goals haven't changed. I still want to continue to have a good senior year at a position that I'm starting to get comfortable (outside linebacker). As far as going to the next level, the NFL, I've always had aspirations to be there, but I have to keep that in the back of my mind. I want to have a good season and focus on this (the season) right now. I don't want to shift my focus to the NFL," states Stephens. As for getting comfortable in his position, Darnell tallied 45 tackles last year and caused two fumbles. He has already surpassed those 45 tackles this season, and has taken down 65 offensive players and five quarterbacks (prior to the Georgia Tech game). He had nine tackles and two sacks in the victory over Wake Forest and was named ACC Defensive Player of the Week.

The Clemson defensive prowess is what attracted Darnell to the Clemson Tigers over other football powerhouses of Michigan, Florida, Louisiana State, and Iowa. "The atmosphere is what brought me here," remembers Stephens. "The tradition of defense, the tradition of the school, the Clemson area. I liked the small town and I wanted to be in a place where the college is the town itself."

But what was so special about Clemson, about Death Valley, that steered this highly recruited high school player from Converse-Judson High School in Texas to the little town in the south? "Everything is special about Death Valley, the fans, the tradition, running down the hill. It's like being in your own back yard playing here. It's everything exciting that you dream about."

Stephens recalls, "The thing I remember most about my first game at Clemson is running down the hill. I was standing on the hill after I first touched the rock, looking at all of those people just there to watch us play. I still always touch the rock, I've never missed it, except when I've been a captain or injured. I try to be the first one off the bus, even when I was a freshman I was the first one off the bus, and I still do that."

Eight months ago, to add to the challenge of beginning his final season of defensive play for the Tigers, Darnell Stephens married longtime friend and girlfriend Valarie Montgomery, from San Antonio and his rival high school. "It's a big change in my life. This is the first time I've been through a football season with a wife, so it's kind of difficult because football is so demanding. You don't spend as much quality time together as you'd like because during the week there's practice and then on the weekend, we have games. So, it's kind of hard to juggle the schedule and to get enough time to spend with your wife," says Stephens. "It's rough on her, but she's done a heck of a job being here with me and dealing with everything. This is like a job, playing football. It makes it tough on my wife because I'm not here a lot during the season. I just try to make her understand that there's more to playing football than just going out there to practice."

Planning a wedding and dealing with family members during that time is trying enough, but fitting the big day in between practice, jobs, and school, and making time for travel, it's almost impossible to handle. So, the Stephens's did what any other normal couple would do. "We knew that we were going to get married, it was just a matter of when. We went to a Justice of the Peace in Anderson and got married, no witnesses, just us. She wants to have a big wedding eventually, but by the time we get to it, we'll have been married a year already. I would love to give that to her. She would love to have all of her family and my family around us when we do it again, because our families don't really know one another."

School work for Darnell has been a chal-allenge over the past year as well and is still another aspect of his life that must be included in his busy schedule. Receiving a degree in management is an objective that Darnell has had since he was recruited to Clemson in 1991 as a safety/cornerback. "I do want to graduate and once I do that, I just want to be able to work in a management firm and manage some small businesses at first and move on from there. I'd like to start my own business eventually. I want to take up the lost art of tailoring. I've watched my father make clothes for so long and I've seen that there can be a lot done with management and marketing the business," says Stephens.

Because school has been such a challenge over the last year, Stephens has learned a lot about the Clemson campus, about Vickery Hall, and that there are people here to help. "(Vickery Hall) It's a luxury that athletes have. I don't see why anyone wouldn't use it. Some look at it as a punishment, but it's very helpful," says Stephens. "My grades weren't very good this past summer, and I almost couldn't come back to play football. I think this summer taught me a lot in life.

"I'm a person who does things when his back is against the wall. I have to try to get out of that habit, but I tend to do better in those pressure situations. I like the pressure. I get myself in situations that I don't need to be in, and I always seem to fight my way through. I had to work so that my wife and I could live this year in an apartment, so I worked 12 hour shifts, 8:00 at night to 8:00 in the morning. I would go straight to summer school after my work shift was over. I took nine hours in order to be eligible to play football this season. It took a toll on me, but I learned a lot about myself."

Always learning about himself and continuing to learn about football is nothing new for Stephens. After playing his first season at Clemson as a free safety and cornerback, Stephens was switched to strong safety during his sophomore year, then to the position he's in now, at outside linebacker. "I'm still a defensive back at heart, but in my mind I'm an outside linebacker. I like to be out there covering receivers, catching interceptions, that kind of football, but I'm supplementing those kinds of plays with sacks now," states Stephens.

Learning different positions and learning about life have gone hand-in-hand for Stephens in the past. Outside linebacker coach Ellis Johnson taught Stephens a lot about what life is about during this year. The players adjustment to a new coaching staff, coupled with Coach Johnson's diagnosis of cancer, was very difficult. But, Stephens feels he knows Johnson better for the experience. "Coach Johnson expresses himself in a vocal way. I feel like I know him very well. You see what Coach Johnson's been through and it seems like your life has been easy. It makes you want to work harder for him. I was stunned because that was the first experience I had with something like that.

"I had just met him and he was going through so much (after being diagnosed with cancer and going through chemotherapy and radiation). He's a great teacher, he's taught me a lot this year as both a player and a person," says Stephens. "We, as a group, wanted to go out and play for him, as well as ourselves. He was going through this difficult time, and the only thing we could offer him was giving him our best during our playing time."

One thing that Stephens stresses to teammates, and the by-product of his experience with Ellis Johnson, is the 'don't ever give up' mentality. "I tell the underclassmen, 'Look, this is my last year to go to a bowl game and I can't go. But you guys, you have two or three more years to go. Keep on working. Don't stop working now on this season, because we're not able to go to a bowl game, just keep on working so that you can build for next year.' They need to keep on building and I think they understand that.

"I've enjoyed this team a lot. We haven't had the success that we wanted to have," reflects Stephens, "but I really enjoy this team." And being a senior has given Stephens a more reminiscent tone to his talk of the team. He is one who has been around the block a few times and has more memories from the last few years than many have from a lifetime. "Sometimes you have to take the time to say thanks for the opportunity we have to play this game and the opportunity to wake up every morning and breathe.

"I fell in love with the game of football when I was eight years old, watching my older brother play. I wanted to play but they wouldn't let eight-year-olds play because they cried too much. So, I was the water boy for my brother's team until I could play. There was just always something about football. I didn't really know how good I was until I moved to Texas."

High school football in Texas is sometimes compared to boot camp, especially in Darnell's eyes. "Football was like a job in high school. During our fourth-period lunch, we had practice. We had to brown bag our lunch, we had 30 minutes to eat and shower and be out on the field. In the spring we had something called 'boot camp'. It's standing at attention, doing exercises at the whistle, it was so tough. You couldn't move. You had to really love football to go through that."

So, for all the games he's participated in, for all of the hours he's put into practice and watching films and thinking about what was to come, what was Darnell's personal best game in his career? "I don't think I've played my best game yet," comments Stephens. "I think my best game is still waiting for me." Whenever that best game happens, Stephens will definitely be ready for it, the same way he has faced every other challenge in his life, day-by-day, challenge by challenge.

A funny thing happened to Phil Prince last June 9th when he was coming to Clemson from his home in Mt. Pleasant for the 45th reunion of the Class of '49, of which he is the president.

He, traveling with his wife Celeste, had to stop in Columbia for a meeting of the Clemson Board of Trustees. Prince entered the room as a life member of the board and came out as acting president of Clemson University.

Prince will serve as university head until a permanent successor is appointed to succeed Dr. Max Lennon, who resigned in February, then accepted the position as president of Eastern Foods, Inc., of Atlanta the first week of June.

The 68-year-old Prince, who retired in 1983 as senior vice president of American Express, found out that news doesn't always spread like wild fire.

The day after his appointment as acting president, he stopped for some gas at a service station in Clemson. While he was inside paying for his purchase, a woman drove up to the tank behind Prince's car.

Noticing his auto tag which said "Clemson University Trustee" the lady asked Prince when he returned to his car: "You guys appointed anybody yet?"

Prince answered: "You're looking at him."

Born in Bostic, NC (August 4, 1926), Prince spent most of his young life in Erwin, TN, where his father was a railroad conductor. He first heard of Clemson from George Fritts, a member of the 1940 Cotton Bowl team, but at that time, a line coach at Clemson. Prince was also being recruited by Tennessee and N. C. State.

He first lettered in 1944, and the second game of the season was against Georgia Tech in Atlanta. For the trip, Prince came dressed in a pair of overalls and Coach Frank Howard asked about his attire. Prince replied that was saving his only pair of slacks to wear after arriving in Atlanta.

But things would get better, even before leaving Clemson.

Returning in 1946 after a stint in service, that season and the next one were on the losing side (4-5 each time). But the Tigers hit the jackpot in 1948 when Prince and Bob Martin were co-captains, undefeated in the regular season (10-0), Southern Conference champions (5-0), ranked 11th in the nation and champions of the Gator Bowl with a 24-23 win over Missouri.

Acting President Phil Prince was a starter on Clemson's undefeated 1948 team.

Prince made one of the biggest plays of his career against South Carolina that season. Trailing 7-6 with less than two minutes to play, the story goes that a man stood up in the stands and waved a $100 bill and said: "I bet Clemson scores on the next play," and Tigers didn't even have the ball.

On the next play Prince broke through and blocked a punt. Oscar "Rabbit" Thompson scooped up the ball and ran it in for a score and a 13-7 Clemson win. That success story was followed by many more by Prince.

He rose through the ranks of Milliken and Company over nearly a 30-year period to become vice president for personnel and management development before going with American Express in 1978.

In addition to his past service on the Board of Trustees since 1989, Prince has served Clemson as a member of the Alumni National Council and as a former president of the Clemson University Foundation Board of Directors. He chaired the Campaign for Clemson fundraising drive and was a major donor to that effort. He and his wife established the Prince Presidential Scholars Endowment for academic recruiting scholarships. They have also contributed a life scholarship to the Clemson Athletic Department.

Prince is a recipient of the Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Award and the first President's Award, which recognizes outstanding service to the university. He was also presented the Clemson Medallion, the university's highest honor, in 1989. During his tenure as acting president, Prince plans to return his earnings to the school as a personal contribution to the Clemson University Foundation.

Philip Hunter Prince and Celeste Orr Prince are parents of two sons, Kevin and Jim. They also have two grandsons—the reason for moving from Pawleys Island to Mt. Pleasant. On the night he was named acting president, Prince called the four-year-old grandson, Philip Hunter Prince, II, to say that he was going to move away (to Clemson) for awhile. "I don't want you to move, grandpa," Philip said.

In the background, Prince heard his son, Jim, tell Philip: "Tell grandpapa how proud you are of him." To which Philip replied: "I'm not."

Sorry young Philip, but you're greatly outnumbered.

Head Coach Tommy West

Tommy West, a mainstay of a Clemson coaching staff that led the Tigers to a 69-20-4 record and six Associated Press Top 20 finishes between 1982-89, was named the Tigers Head Football Coach on November 29, 1993. During his first tour of duty with the Tigers as an outside linebacker coach, Clemson played in five bowl games (winning four) and claimed four ACC Championships, including three in a row from 1986-88.

Clemson had a 44-10-1 record against ACC competition during his era on the Tiger staff, an 81 percent winning mark. Additionally, five of those Clemson teams ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense and scoring defense, and three ranked in the top 12 in the nation in total defense.

Clemson's 1989 defense ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense and West's outside linebackers had a lot to do with that success. His top four outside linebackers that year are all currently in the NFL.

Levon Kirkland (Pittsburgh Steelers), Wayne Simmons (Green Bay Packers) and John Johnson (Cincinnati Bengals) are all currently starters in the NFL, and Ashley Sheppard (Minnesota Vikings) is a top reserve. Simmons was a first-round draft pick, Kirkland and Johnson second-round selections and Sheppard was a fourth-round choice. In addition to the four players listed above, Andy Headen (New York Giants) and Terence Mack (St. Louis Cardinals) are former Tigers West helped guide to an NFL career.

West began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (his alma mater) in 1977. He coached one year of high school football at White County High in Sparta, TN in 1978, then became an assistant at Mississippi in 1979. For the 1980 and 1981 seasons he served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State.

After his career at Clemson (1982-89), West became the running backs coach at Tennessee. During that 1990 season Tennessee won the Southeastern Conference and captured the Sugar Bowl with a win over Virginia. The Volunteers scored a school record 442 points that year and averaged over 400 yards a game in total offense, 205.7 rushing and 205.4 passing. He served as Co-Defensive Coordinator at South Carolina in 1991 and 1992.

In 1993 West began his college head coaching career, as he took over a UT-Chattanooga team that had won just two games in 1992. He doubled that total in 1993 and guided the Mocs to one of the landmark wins in school history, a 33-31 win over #1 ranked Marshall. He concluded the regular season with a 45-42 victory over Furman, ironically, his first regular season opponent as Clemson coach.

His first game as head coach of the Tigers was in the Peach Bowl against Kentucky. West became the fifth coach in NCAA history to make his debut with a program in a bowl game. However, he was just the second coach in history to make his debut in a bowl game without previously coaching his new team as an assistant coach earlier in the season.

The debut was a rousing success as his Tigers downed the Wildcats 14-13 at the Georgia Dome. The Tigers drove 83 yards for the winning touchdown on their last possession. Patrick Sapp hit Terry Smith from 21 yards out with 20 seconds left to conclude the closest game of the 1993-94 bowl season. It was the latest winning touchdown drive by a Clemson team since 1958.

West earned three letters in his four-year career at Tennessee (1972-75). The Vols played in three bowl games and were ranked in a final Top 20 in three seasons. He was the co-captain of Tennessee's 1975 football team and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game that same year.

He began his college career as a running back, but saw most of his playing time as a tight end. He caught 37 passes for 575 yards in his career with the Vols, including 16 passes for 233 yards as a senior. As a junior he caught an 81-yard pass from Condredge Holloway, still the longest non-scoring play in Tennessee history. He earned a bachelor's degree from Tennessee in 1976 and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that same year.

West played two years (1974-75) of baseball at Tennessee and had a career batting average of .305. He hit .367 in 1975 and was named All-SEC Eastern Division. Rick Honeycutt, now with the Oakland A's, was a teammate of West on that 1975 Tennessee team that finished 32-16.

West was a multi-sport standout in high school. He was an outfielder in baseball, a guard in basketball and a running back in football. In 1972 he was named a High School All-American in football and was a fifth-round draft choice in baseball by the Chicago Cubs. Willie Randolph, who went on to an all-Star career with the New York Yankees, was one of 77 future Major League players drafted after West in the regular phase of the June 1972 draft. But West turned down the Cubs offers and went to Tennessee. He played his prep football at Gainesville High in Gainesville, GA for Coach Bobby Gruhn. He was an all-state back as a junior and was also named to the All-Southern team.

Born Thomas Cleveland West on July 31, 1954, he is married to the former Lindsay Watkins of Forest City, NC. The couple has one son, Turner, 5.

Eric attends a Homework Center – a place that helps him when Mom and Dad can't. And when he works especially hard, he can win wonderful prizes – like tickets to a Clemson home game that he might otherwise never get to see.

Hundreds of Homework Centers across the nation focus on keeping struggling students from becoming dropouts. In actuality, they're doing a lot more than that. Many hardworking students are bringing their grades up from F's to A's, and in one South Carolina elementary school expulsions declined from 38 to 4 after the centers opened.

Duke Power is proud to help support such an important and effective program. We invite you to help too. Simply donate football or basketball season tickets you're unable to use or purchase extra tickets to contribute to the Homework Centers for use as prizes. Send them at least two weeks before game day to: John Geer, Duke Power Company, P.O. Box 1745, Clemson, SC 29633.

If you do, you'll be helping students like Eric tackle the books today so that tomorrow they can tackle the world.

Assistant Coaches

Les Herrin

Les Herrin Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Line

The Clemson football program has seen a lot of success during Les Herrin's tenure as an assistant coach. In 1981, Herrin arrived at Clemson as a linebacker coach, and the Tigers won the National Championship that season. In his first tour of duty with the Tigers (1981-84) Clemson had a 37-6-2 record during that span.

After a brief stint away from Clemson at East Carolina (1985-87) and North Carolina (1988), Herrin returned to the Tiger program in 1989 as defensive line coach. In 1989 Clemson ranked fifth in the nation in scoring, rushing, and total defense. The team followed that performance with a number-one ranking in total defense in 1990.

Herrin, in his first year as Assistant Head Coach, has coached several players who have had successful NFL careers. Herrin coached 1981 ACC MVP Jeff Davis, who went on to be captain of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and 1989 All-Pro Johnny Remy (New England Patriots), who was a linebacker under Herrin's watchful eye in 1981 and 1982. Chester McGlockton, now one of the top young defensive linemen with the Los Angeles Raiders, and 1993 All-ACC selection Brentson Buckner of the Pittsburgh Steelers also benefitted from Herrin's teachings.

Miles Aldridge Defensive Coordinator/Secondary

Now in his second stint at Clemson, Miles Aldridge will be the Tigers' defensive coordinator and work with the defensive backs in 1994. He first came to Clemson in 1985 as an inside linebacker coach. From 1986 thru 1989 the Tigers were ranked in the top 20 in all defensive categories. This included the 1989 season when Clemson ranked fifth nationally in rushing, scoring and total defense.

Clemson won three consecutive ACC titles during Aldridge's first stay at Clemson, 1986-87-88 and was ranked in the final AP top 25 in 1986-87-88-89. Clemson has been to a bowl game every year Aldridge has been affiliated with the program. And Clemson has been successful in those bowl appearances, as the Peach Bowl win over Kentucky gave Aldridge a 5-1 ledger in bowl games as a Clemson coach.

Aldridge has coached several players who have gone on to have successful pro careers. Three linebackers have gone on to the NFL, Andre Townsend (Mississippi), Freddie Joe Nunn (Mississippi), and Ed McDaniel (Clemson). Another former Clemson LB, Doug Brewster, went to the CFL, where he was a member of the Grey Cup Championship team, the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Clyde Christensen

Clyde Christensen Co-Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

An All-American quarterback in junior college, Clyde Christensen comes to Clemson after two years at Maryland. He knows the ACC well as he also played for the University of North Carolina in 1977 and 1978.

At Maryland he coached quarterbacks John Kaleo and Scott Milanovich. Kaleo ranked second in the nation in total offense as a senior, while Milanovich ranked fourth nationally in that category.

Christensen's offense at Maryland was explosive, as the Terps ranked fourth in the country in 1992 with an average of 466 yards per game, and 16th last year when they averaged 440 yards per game. The Terps also ranked second in the country in passing offense in 1992 and third in passing offense in 1993.

While Christensen is in his first year as a coach at Clemson, he has known Clemson head coach Tommy West for over 15 years. The two were graduate assistant coaches together at Mississippi in 1979. He is only 36-years-old, but already has college experience at Mississippi, East Tennessee State, Temple, East Carolina, Holy Cross, South Carolina and Maryland.

Christensen was a part of two successful teams at North Carolina, as the Tar Heels played in the 1977 Liberty Bowl and the 1978 Peach Bowl during his career. He was also a junior college All-American at Fresno City Junior College in California. He is a native of Corvina, CA.

The Clyde Christensen File

At Clemson: In his first season as co-offensive coordinator, he will also work with the Clemson quarterbacks.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Graduate assistant at Mississippi (1979); offensive coordinator at East Tennessee State (1980-82); quarterback and wide receiver coach at Temple (1983-85); offensive and recruiting coordinator at East Carolina (1986-88); receivers and tight ends coach at Holy Cross (1990); running backs coach at South Carolina (1991); quarterback coach at Maryland (1992-93); co-offensive coordinator at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Personal Data: Born January 28, 1958 in Corvina, CA...he and his wife Debbie have three children, Ruth (3), Rebecca (8), and Rachel (10).

Rick Stockstill

Rick Stockstill Co-Offensive Coordinator/Wide Receivers

Rick Stockstill has been around successful programs and record setting offenses his entire coaching career. In his first year as quarterback coach at Clemson (1989), the Tigers set a school record for completion percentage (60%). The Tigers led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense for the 1991 season, and Clemson gained the second most yards in school history in the process.

Stockstill also tutored productive offenses at Central Florida and Bethune-Cookman in his early years as a football coach. As a player, he was the starting quarterback for Florida State. He guided the Seminoles to a pair of Orange Bowl appearances, a pair of top 10 rankings, and was the team captain in 1981.

It is no surprise that Stockstill has moved up the coaching ladder so swiftly because he is the product of an athletic family. His father was a high school coach for many years at Fernandina Beach High School in Fernandina Beach, FL. His brother, Jeff, was a starting wide receiver for the Tigers in 1982, a reserve on the National Championship team of 1981, and was a contributor to the Clemson program for four years.

Stockstill is in his sixth year with the Clemson program and the Tigers have been to a bowl game in four of the five previous seasons. He joins Les Herrin and Whitey Jordan as the only full-time assistant coaches in Clemson history to serve under three different head coaches.

The Rick Stockstill File

Personal Data: Born December 23, 1959...he and his wife Sara were married on July 7, 1990, and had their first child, Brent Forrest, in August, 1994.

Richard Bisaccia

Richard Bisaccia Running Backs/Special Teams/ Recruiting Coordinator

This Yonkers, NY native was a four-year starter and team captain at Yankton College. He was a free agent with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL after his college career.

While the 1983 Spring season saw the end of his football career, the 1983 fall was the beginning of his coaching career. He was named the offensive coordinator at Wayne State in Nebraska his first year out of college and he has been in college coaching ever since.

Unlike many Division I full-time assistant coaches, Bisaccia has not made a lot of moves. He spent five seasons at Wayne State, then six seasons at South Carolina. He has experience coaching on defense and offense, but will concentrate on the running backs position at Clemson.

The 34-year-old Bisaccia is a coach who enjoys challenges. That is fortunate for Clemson because he must work with a very young group of running backs in his first year. There are no junior or senior backs on the Clemson roster. Bisaccia probably wears more hats than any other Clemson coach. In addition to his time with the running backs, he is also the special teams coach and the recruiting coordinator.

In addition to Bisaccia's changes on the gridiron the last year, he has had a family addition. Last August, his wife Jeanne gave birth to their first son and fourth child, Richard Oakley.

The Richard Bisaccia File

At Clemson: In his first season as the Tigers' running backs coach and special teams coach.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Offensive coordinator at Wayne State (NE) (1983-87); graduate assistant for wide receivers at South Carolina (1988); volunteer assistant for defensive ends at South Carolina (1989-90); tight ends coach at South Carolina (1991); running backs and special teams coach at South Carolina (1992-93); running backs and special teams coach at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Personal Data: Born June 3, 1960...he and his wife Jeanne have four children: daughters, Michele (10), Elizabeth (5), and Madeline (1) and son Richard Oakley (August 1994).

James Earle

James Earle Tight Ends

James Earle holds the distinction of being the only former Clemson player on the 1994 Clemson Coach staff. There are many former Clemson players in coaching this year, but he is the only former Tiger serving his alma mater in a full-time capacity.

If Earle can make as many contributions as a coach as he did as a player, Tommy West will be very proud of his former player. Earle was a starting outside linebacker for the Tigers in 1986 and 1987 and West was his position coach.

As a player, Earle was named the nation's #6 outside linebacker by the Sporting News in the preseason of 1987. He led the Tigers in tackles that year with 79, outdistancing Michael Dean Perry for that honor. Clemson was fifth in the nation in total defense that year. Earle finished his career with 213 tackles, 15 tackles for loss and 16 pass deflections. He played in 47 straight games and had 27 starts. The versatile athlete lettered as a strong safety in 1984 and 1985 and played in three bowl games. Clemson won the ACC Championship and won a bowl game his junior and senior seasons.

Earle began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Clemson in 1990 and 1991, then was hired by West at UT-Chattanooga in 1993. Earle already has experience with a college program on both sides of the ball. He is tutoring the tight ends at Clemson and was a linebacker coach at UTC.

The James Earle File

Previous Coaching Experience: High School - Football, track, and wrestling coach at Greer High School (1989); football, basketball, and track coach at Easley High School (1992); College - Graduate assistant at Clemson (1990-91); linebacker coach at UT-Chattanooga (1993); tight ends coach at Clemson (1993-Present).

Education: Earned a Secondary Education degree from Clemson (1989).

College Playing Experience: Played strong safety and outside linebacker for Clemson (1984-87).

Personal Data: Born March 26, 1966 in Easley, SC.

Reggie Herring

Reggie Herring Inside Linebackers

Reggie Herring is another example of an outstanding player who has gone on to become an outstanding coach. A teammate of Rick Stockstill at Florida State, Herring left his own mark with the Seminole program as a player.

Herring was captain of the 1981 FSU Orange Bowl team and earned AP All-America honors that year. The Seminoles played in the Orange Bowl and ranked in the top 10 in the nation his junior and senior seasons, and he was recently inducted into the Florida State Hall of Fame. He was a three-year starter at Florida State and the Seminoles played in three bowls during his four year career. Florida State also had three double-figure victory seasons during his career.

Like many of Clemson's assistant coaches in 1994, Herring has a diverse resume. Herring has not made plans over the Christmas holidays for quite some time. He has been a part of college football as a player and coach since 1977. In those 17 seasons he has been to 13 bowl games, 10 as a coach and three as a player. He has coached in bowl games for Oklahoma State, Auburn, and Clemson and of course played in three bowls at Florida State.

The Reggie Herring File

At Clemson: In his first season as inside linebackers coach.

Education: B.S. in Criminology from Florida State (1981).

College Playing Experience: Three-year starter at linebacker for Florida State.

Personal Data: Born on July 3, 1959...married the former Lisa Ward, and they have two children, Caroline and Adam.

Ellis Johnson

Ellis Johnson Outside Linebackers

Ellis Johnson is another successful Tiger assistant who has ties to the area. Johnson attended The Citadel, but he grew up a Clemson fan. He was raised just outside of Columbia, but he had many relatives who were Clemson alumni. He has coached in the state at The Citadel as a graduate assistant, at Gaffney High as an assistant coach and at Spartanburg High as an assistant coach and head coach. He went back to the Citadel in 1982.

His most remarkable experience in coaching so far took place in Alabama. In 1992 Johnson served as an assistant coach at Alabama. The Crimson Tide experienced a perfect season and defeated Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl to win the National Championship. He is one of two Tiger assistant coaches on this year's staff with a National Championship ring. Les Herrin, a member of Clemson's 1981 staff, is the other.

Johnson was a part of four outstanding defenses as Alabama. During his tenure (1990-93), Alabama ranked in the top five in the nation in total defense and pass defense three times. The 1992 Alabama defense led the nation in total defense and rushing defense, and ranked second nationally in passing defense and scoring defense.

The Ellis Johnson File

At Clemson: In his first season as outside linebackers coach.

Education: Earned a degree in Secondary Education from The Citadel (1975).

College Playing Experience: Three-year letterman at The Citadel.

Personal Data: Born December 23, 1951...married to the former Tonya Taylor this past July.

John Latina

John Latina Offensive Line

John Latina has been an offensive coach for a Division I program every year since 1979. He might have his greatest challenge this season, however, as he has just three of the top 10 offensive linemen from last year's 9-3 squad returning.

But, if any coach can handle a situation devoid of experience it is John Latina. The Virginia Tech graduate who once played against Clemson as an offensive guard (1978) has worked at Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Temple and Kansas State. He has already coached in a bowl game with four different schools, Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Kansas State and Clemson.

During his career he has worked with Dan Marino, who led the Panthers to a 9-3 ledger and the Cotton Bowl in 1982. Paul Palmer, one of the top rushers in NCAA history with Temple, was also a member of Latina's offense in the 1980s.

Over the last five years Kansas State's program in general and offense in particular, has shown as much improvement as any in the country. In Latina's second season at Kansas State as offensive line coach and running game coordinator, the Wildcats set a school record for total offense with 4,231. Kansas State advanced to a bowl game in 1992, just the second bowl appearance in school history.

The John Latina File

Education: Received a bachelor's degree from Virginia Tech (1979).

College Playing Experience: Four-year letter winner at Virginia Tech as an offensive guard (1975-78).

From our history we have taken two great names and a symbol – each with a high recognition factor, rich in history and tradition – and formed a new Company name to propel us into the future. All three of these textile leaders make up today's WESTPOINT STEVENS.

Now – for the first time – each of the three great companies that have gone into our Company as we know it today are represented in one name and trademark.

Clemson Sports Notes, 1993-94

*Clemson had nine teams rank among the final top 25 in either the final poll, or NCAA meet/ tournament events. The highest ranked team was the baseball team, which finished fourth in the final Baseball America poll. The Clemson soccer team advanced to the NCAA's and was fifth in the final poll, the wrestling team was seventh, the golf team was ninth, the men's track team was 11th, the Lady Tiger tennis team was 18th in the final poll, the women's basketball team was 22nd (USA Today poll), the football team 22nd (USA Today poll), and the men's indoor track team was 24th.

*The final Sears All-Sports poll ranked the Clemson all-round sports program 16th in the nation. Clemson's fine spring of top 11 finishes in baseball, track and golf had a lot to do with that fine ranking.

*Clemson defeated the number-one team in two different sports in 1993-94. The Tiger soccer team defeated number-one Virginia in Charlottesville on a goal at the buzzer by All-American Jimmy Glenn. The Clemson baseball team defeated Georgia Tech (ranked number-one by Baseball America) twice in Atlanta in May. It was just the second time in Clemson history that the Tigers had beaten the number-one team in two different sports in the same year.

*Nine different sports that compete in dual meet or match competition had at least one win over a top 25 opponent during the 1993-94 academic year.

*It was a showcase year for Clemson's facilities. For the first time in history, Clemson played host to NCAA Championship events in three different sports. Clemson played host to the volleyball and soccer tournaments in the Fall, the women's basketball tournament in the Winter and the baseball tournament in the Spring.

*Clemson had a solid year in football, basketball and baseball, the school's oldest and most traditional sports. Clemson went to postseason play in all three sports and was one of just two schools in the nation to win at least nine football games, 18 basketball games and 36 baseball games. Florida was the only other school in the nation to do it. It was just the eighth time in Clemson history and the first time in five years that Clemson has been to postseason play in all three of its oldest sports in the same academic year.

*All but two of Clemson's teams had what would be termed a winning season and five of the teams that participate in head-to-head competition won at least 70 percent of their games.

*Clemson football player Warren Forney was the recipient of the Sullivan Award, one of the top honors bestowed upon a Clemson student. It is presented for service to others.

*Jaro Zawislanski won the ACC's Jim Weaver Award as one of the top all-around student-athletes in the ACC.

Clemson finished 16th in the National Sears All-Sports poll in 1993-94.

*Over the last 13 years the ACC has captured more college football national championships than any other conference. Clemson won the title in 1981, Georgia Tech in 1990 and Florida State in 1993. The Big Eight is second with two national championships over the last 13 years, while the Pac-10, the Western Athletic and Southeastern have one apiece. Maryland also won the national championship in 1953, the first year of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

*Over the last five years the ACC is the only conference in the nation to have each of its schools play in a bowl game.

*The nine ACC schools that will take to the field this fall have produced 296 first or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 47 first-team Academic All-Americans. ACC teams have had 1,253 players selected in the annual NFL draft, including 78 first-round selections.

*In 1993 the ACC boasted its first Heisman Trophy winner, Charlie Ward. He was one of eight different ACC players to be selected first or second-team All-American by at least one service. The list included Clemson guard Stacy Seegars.

*Clemson and Florida State are two of just four teams nationally who have won at least 75 percent of their games in seven of the last eight years. Clemson and Florida State are also the only two teams in the nation to win six bowl games since 1986.

*For the third consecutive year the ACC drew more than 2.3 million fans. Over 54 home dates, ACC schools attracted 2,416,728 fans. ACC teams played to 87 percent of their stadium capacities. Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in average attendance, its 12th straight year in the top 15 in the nation in attendance.

*If success in postseason play is a barometer of excellence, the ACC is among the best leagues in the nation. ACC teams have a combined 70-65-5 record in bowl games over the years, a .537 winning percentage. That is second only to the Pac-10's .551 success rate. Three ACC teams are among the top eight in NCAA history in terms of bowl winning percentage. Georgia Tech is second with a 68 percent mark, Florida State is fourth with a .636 mark and Clemson is eighth at .632.

*Four ACC teams are guaranteed appearing in postseason bowls this year. Five ACC teams received bowl bids in 1993. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1994 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the third year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC is in the second year of a two-year contract to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, (also a number-four team) in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

*The ACC also stands at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics in terms of academic achievements of its student-athletes. That accomplishment is certainly shown in the list of schools who have won the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is presented to the CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate of its football team. Eight times over the past 14 years an ACC member school has claimed the award. In 1994, the ACC had six of the 20 CFA members who reported a graduation rate of 70 percent or better.

*The ACC excelled in more than just football in 1993-94. The conference captured five national titles and participated in the national title game in four other sports. The ACC has won 18 national team championships over the last four years. In 1993-94 the ACC claimed the national champion in football, women's basketball, women's soccer and field hockey. The ACC held the runnerup spot in men's basketball, baseball, men's lacrosse and women's lacrosse.

*The ACC placed at least one team in the top 10 nationally in 14 of the 23 sports sponsored by the league. In 1993-94 a league record 82 teams competed in NCAA championships, five teams were in football bowl games and 29 teams were ranked in the final top 10 of their respective sports.

*At one time or another, an all-time high 12 ACC teams in eight different sports, representing seven of the nine institutions, held a number-one ranking in 1993-94.

*The ACC Academic Honor Roll record was broken for the eighth straight year as 1,151 student-athletes were recognized for their work in the classroom.

*ACC teams made an all-time record 29 national television appearances last fall and an ACC team participated in the highest rated game in 10 years.

Clemson and Florida State are the only schools in the country with six bowl wins since 1986. The ACC is the only conference in the nation that has seen all of its members participate in a bowl over the last five years.

Memorial Stadium

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th birthday of the place where the Tigers won six games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 52 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 180-65-7, including a 22-3-1 ledger over the last four seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.8 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger Football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 53rd year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the first day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

Clemson has the ninth largest on campus stadium in College Football.

Clemson has the most unique and famous stadium entrance in sports.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features which makes it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house.

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

What the Opponents Say:

"The biggest thing is dealing with the noise once the game starts. Clemson fans are among the most enthusiastic in all of football."

Bobby Ross, Head Coach
San Diego Chargers, 1991

"When they (Clemson) ran down the hill, I got so excited I could hardly breathe."

Marco Coleman
Georgia Tech, 1991

"Games at Clemson are unreal. You can stand next to each other and talk and can't hear what the other guy is saying. The offense and defense of the opposing team better get used to using hand signals to set formations and get plays off."

Bobby Houston
N.C. State linebacker, 1989

"I came in here knowing it would be loud and that Clemson would hit me hard, but to me the noise was the biggest factor. I know I didn't concentrate as well because of it."

Herschel Walker
Georgia tailback, 1981

Death Valley will be the home of the Carolina Panthers in 1995. It will be the largest stadium in the NFL that year.

First-year Clemson Coach Rick Barnes likes challenges. In his first year as a head coach at any level he took George Mason to a 20-win season and just one victory away from the NCAA Tournament.

In 1988 Barnes moved to Providence where he took over a program that had won just 11 games the previous year. The program was at the crossroads as players with NBA talent had quit the team, and attendance was waning at the small Catholic school in Rhode Island.

Barnes's presense brought those players back and he had the Friars in the NCAA Tournament in his first year, one of five postseason appearances in his six seasons at Providence. Additionally, the top five attendance seasons in Providence history were recorded during his seven-year tenure. In his final year he led the Friars to their first ever Big East Championship and an NCAA Tournament bid.

Now Barnes has accepted the challenge of the Clemson program. While he takes over a program that won 18 games last year and has been to postseason play eight of the last 10 years, his first roster is composed of only five returning players with Division I experience and just four players who participated in any games for Clemson last year.

Only one of the top five scorers and only one starter return from last year. His only returning double figure scorer, Devin Gray, is back on the team, but his performance level is in question after he suffered a heart attack last April 4. He was cleared to join the team just prior to the beginning of practice and hopes to return to his third-team All-ACC form of 1993-94.

Returning players saw only 2019 of the 6800 minutes played by Tigers last year. Gray accounts for 802 of those minutes. As far as scoring is concerned, only 33 percent of the points scored in 1993-94 were recorded by players returning in 1994-95. And, that includes Gray's 431 points, over half of the total recorded by returning players. The statistics for rebounding and assist totals for returnees are 30 percent and 23.5 percent, respectively.

The returning talent was not suppose to be depleted. When Barnes accepted the job on March 22, Clemson had a returning roster that included Sharone Wright, a 6-11 center, and Gray, the top field goal percentage shooter in the ACC at 57 percent. They were to be the cornerstone of a frontline that could lead Clemson to the upper division of the ACC. But Wright opted for the NBA a year early.

Gray, a senior forward, suffered the heart attack the evening of the NCAA Championship game. After countless tests over the summer, doctors at Johns Hopkins Institute in Maryland determined that Gray suffered from hypercoagulability of his blood. In other words, his blood is susceptible to clotting due to a chemical defect. This led to a blockage in his coronary vessel.

Gray was on medication to correct the problem this summer and spent many an afternoon in July and August at the cardiac rehab unit in the Greenville Memorial Hospital. However, with the medication to thin his blood, and the rehabilitation program, Gray is back on the court. "I feel good and am ready to contribute to this team," said Gray on October 15th. "I've lost 22 pounds since the summer and I feel in great shape. I am looking forward to my senior year."

If Gray is able to perform at the normal Devin Gray level, he stands to challenge many Clemson career records. Despite a 1993-94 season in which he missed four complete games and parts of four others due to an ankle injury, Gray averaged 14.4 points per game and was second on the team in rebounding with a 6.0 figure. He shot 57.2 percent from the field, best in the ACC, and also contributed 37 steals. His career total of 1224 points is within range of Elden Campbell's 1880 record total.

At this juncture it is difficult for Barnes to assess his first Clemson team. "We will be a solid team defensively. We might not be pretty on offense, because I am not sure what type of offense we will run, but we can be consistent on defense. That is the hallmark of great teams, defense."

Barnes has coached teams that have specialized in the three-point shot and also coached teams that have been inside oriented. So what will we see from his team this year and the long run? "I coach based on our personnel, but I will also recruit to a style over the long run.

"In the long run we are looking to be aggressive. We want to be a pressing team. This year we might play four guards, but in the long run you need balance inside and outside. We want aggressive guys inside who can rebound at both ends."

Barnes does not have a returning player over 6-6, a first at Clemson since the 1950s, so one might think Clemson could be more of a finesse team than a physical team this year. Joining Gray at forward should be Rayfield Ragland, a senior who averaged 5.8 points a game last year.

Ragland started 15 of the 34 games in 1993-94, but is considered a returning starter at forward. The senior got off to a great start a year ago with a 32-point performance at Charleston Southern, just his second game as a Tiger. The forward hit on 6-7 three-point shots, most ever by a Clemson forward in a game.

Ragland shot a respectable 46.2 percent from the field and averaged 3.5 rebounds a game. He also committed just 21 turnovers in nearly 600 minutes of play, the best turnovers/minute figure on the team. He finished the season with 34 points over his last four games and shot over 50 percent from the field in those games, so Barnes hopes that production carries over into this year.

Bruce Martin and Merl Code are a pair of returning backcourt players who should see a lot of time this year. Martin is a 6-2 senior wing player who is capable of filling it up from the outside. The native of West Virginia is seventh in Clemson history with 65 three-point goals.

Merl Code started 1993-94 as Clemson's number-one point guard. He finished the year strong when he posted nine assists and no turnovers against N.C. State in the ACC Tournament, then nearly had a triple double against West Virginia in the NIT.

Andy Kelly is the fifth returning Clemson letterman on the 1994-95 Tigers, but the senior did not play in 1993-94. Kelly red-shirted last year after playing in 17 games in 1992-93. He averaged 2.8 points and 1.2 rebounds per game that year.

There are six newcomers on Clemson's 11-man roster for 1994-95. The most experienced is Bill Harder, a transfer from Furman who has seen a little over a year of Division I action as a starting point guard. He was the Southern Conference Rookie of the Year in 1992-93 when he averaged 9.7 points and 5.8 assists per game.

The five other members of the Clemson roster have never played in a Division I game. Barnes will work them into contributing roles as he evaluates their pre-season progress. The new frontcourt players are Iker Iturbe (Plymouth, MN), Michael Tabb (Philadelphia, PA) and Ihsan Scott (Harlem, NY). The rookie wings are Danny Johnson (Morganton, NC) and Greg Buckner (Hopkinsville, KY).

The Tigers will play host to Marathon Oil this Friday night at 8:00 PM, a game that will follow Barnyard Burn. The regular season opener will be November 29th against Charleston Southern at 7:30 PM in Littlejohn Coliseum.

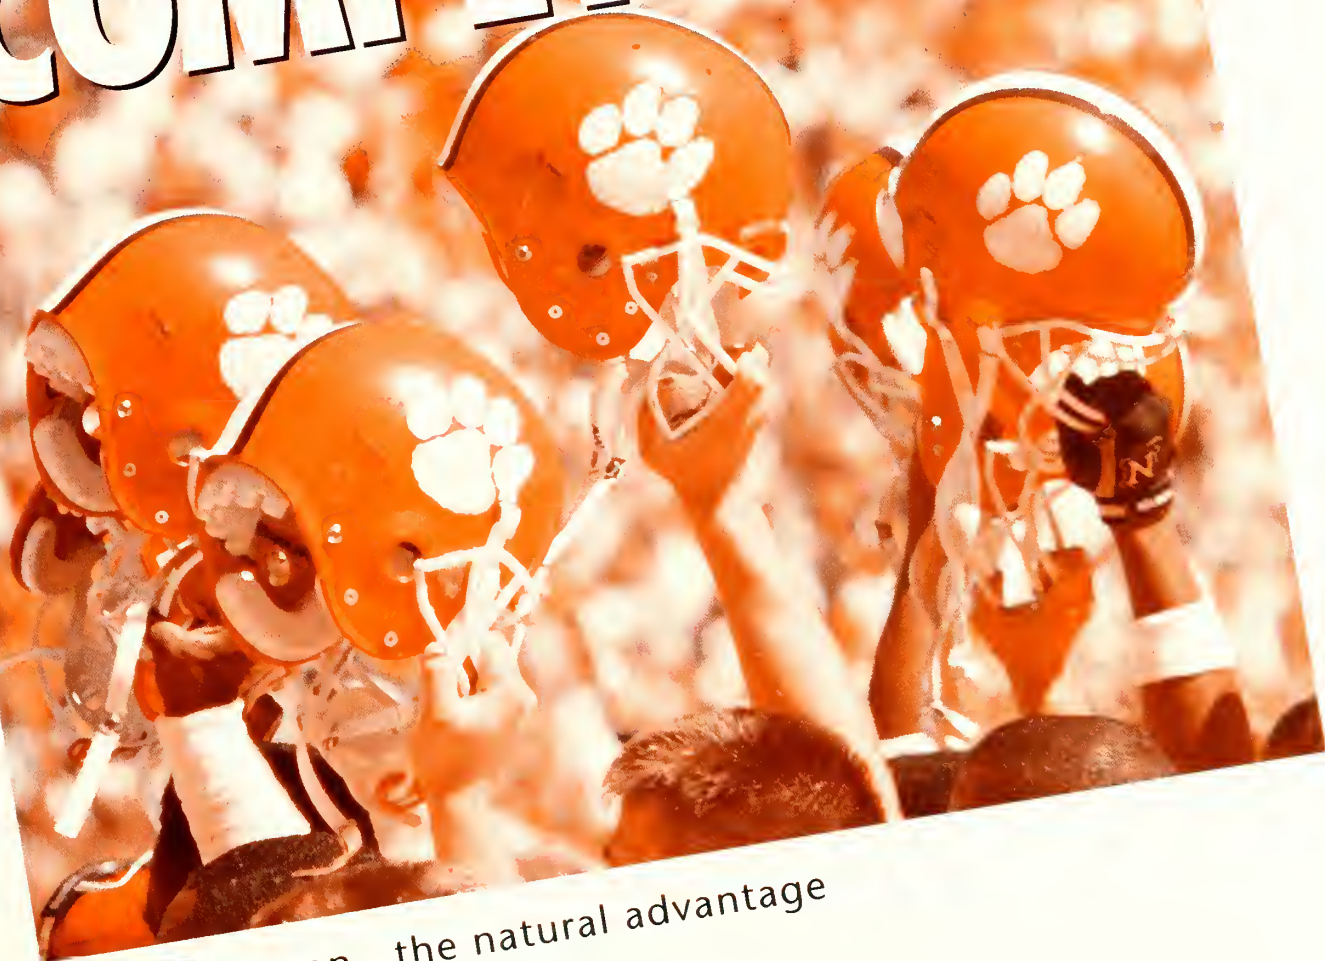

Gray could be the comeback story of the year in college basketball.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY ARMY ROTC

PREREQUISITE: ADRENALINE

Drive. Intensity. Those aren't words you're likely to see in many course requirements. Then again, Army ROTC is unlike any other elective. It's hands-on excitement. ROTC will challenge you mentally and physically through intense leadership training. Training that builds character, self-confidence and decision-making skills. Again, words other courses seldom use. But they're the credits you need to succeed in life. ROTC is open to freshmen and sophomores without obligation and requires about 4 hours per week. Register this term for Army ROTC.

COME TO YOUR DODGE DEALER AND SEE THE CAR THAT CHANGED EVERYTHING...

Dodge Intrepid ES

It's called Dodge Intrepid. And it's like no other car you've ever driven. Its remarkable cab-forward design gives more room to people and less to machinery. Although the machinery itself is remarkable. Like a 4-speed automatic that adjusts shift quality based on your driving habits. Plus other technological wonders too numerous to mention. Dodge Intrepid. This changes everything.

...AND THE TRUCK THAT CHANGED ALL THE RULES.

Dodge Ram Pickup

The Dodge Ram Pickup. It's the first full-size pickup with available anti-lock brakes at all four wheels. And every pickup we sell comes with a standard driver's-side airbag.* While, under the hood, there's a choice of powerful Magnum engines including an awesome 300 horsepower V-10. Ram pickup also changes the rules about the way a truck ought to look. Dodge Ram. The rules have changed.

THEN SAY HI TO NEON.

Dodge Neon

Don't let its small size fool you. Our Neon is full of big ideas. Like cab-forward design. So there's more room inside than you might think. And more power, too. A generous 132 horses to be exact. Plus four-wheel independent suspension and available quick-ratio power steering make it a ball to drive. Say hello to Neon and you could be saying hello to your next new car.

*Always wear your seat belt for a fully effective airbag.

This year has been one sustained injury after another for Michael Barber. But he has endured. With a shoulder that he originally separated last spring, Barber continues to play the game. In the pre-season he injured a knee, an injury that allowed him to play just nine snaps in the season opener.

He played with pain in the N.C. State game, thanks to an ankle injury, but still made eight tackles in 23 plays. There were more injury difficulties on the artificial turf at Virginia in the next game, but again, Barber was productive with nine tackles in just 29 plays. Mike Barber is the classic example of "what might have been". What might have been had he not been the victim of injuries over the last three seasons. Every year he has had to play with pain.

Despite his injuries, the 6'1, 240-pound, senior inside linebacker, from Edgemore, SC, has had the best tackling percentage record on Clemson's team in each of the last two seasons. The charts below show that he made a tackle every 4.54 scrimmage plays in 1993 and has made one every 4.49 plays this year. In this day and age of passing proficiency, that is quite an accomplishment. Tackles aren't credited on incomplete passes, so there aren't many opportunities to make tackles. When Barber made 12 tackles against Maryland in 41 plays, he really made the 12 stops in 31 plays. There were 10 incomplete passes when he was on the field.

This season, Barber has played 335 plays and made 74 tackles. That is a tackle a hit every 4.49 plays. He led the team twice in total tackles with 12 against the Terps and nine at Georgia. His play against Maryland was a key to Clemson's shutout, for the second straight year of the normally high scoring Terps.

Statistics like that are noticed by coaches, fans, opposing coaches, and his teammates. Leomont Evans, a junior free-safety, admirably states, "Mike is the kind of player I like to play with. He's had injuries, but it doesn't stop him. When he plays, it's no joke."

Linebacker coach Reggie Herring states, "Barber is a throw back from the old days. He's not like the modern athlete: spoiled by the media and the medics. He's able to separate himself from the pain and can play—hurt. He's a committed player, and a leader who takes charge."

Freshman tailback, Lamont Pegues states of Barber, "He knows how to play the game. He's sound, aggressive, and he plays hard. At first, he seems mean, but then, you realize: he's just a tough player who knows where he is suppose to be. You can be mean and play out of control. He doesn't do that. He plays smart and tough."

There is no telling where Barber would be on the Clemson career tackle charts had he put in four healthy seasons. He played just nine snaps in the opener this year due to an injury suffered in the pre-season workouts, then played just 52 snaps in the N.C. State and Virginia games combined. He has been healthy recently, and Clemson's defense has been outstanding recently.

Barber might have played his best game of the year against Wake Forest when he had eight tackles, including two for loss and a nine-yard sack. He is a prime reason Clemson ranks in the top 20 in the nation in both rushing defense and scoring defense this season.

Last season, Barber ranked sixth in tackles on the Tiger defense, even though he started just four games and came off the bench in seven. He missed one game and parts of three others...due to injury. His success in 1993 seems to have all started in the Duke game. He led the team with 13 tackles, (10 of which were first hits), the most tackles in a game by a Tiger all season.

In 1992, he was in for 208 plays—as a reserve outside linebacker. Barber's best play of that year and perhaps the most memorable of his career was not as a sack or hard hit, but on a return. The freshman returned a fumble 91 yards for a touchdown against UT-Chattanooga. It was the 12th-longest play of any kind in Clemson's history and still the ACC's longest fumble return in history. It showed Barber's flair for the spectacular and his ability to run (even though a James Trapp push helped him get into the endzone.) But, Later that year, he separated his shoulder, and he was able to get just 88 snaps for the season. Still, he had an impressive 14 tackles.

Clemson might owe Barber's style of play, mental toughness and efficient production to his family. Persuaded by his uncle to play pee-wee league football, Barber became a sports fanatic at an early age. The interest and drive to play sports has stayed with him and it has always carried over into success on the gridiron, court or diamond.

In high school he played seven positions and was a four-year starter. He was named the Defensive MVP of the 1989 Shrine Bowl, the game that features the top players in South Carolina against the top players in North Carolina. He was an all-state choice by USA Today, a second-team Blue Chips All-American and one of the top 20 linebackers in the nation according to long time recruiting analyst Max Emfinger. Later that academic year, as a forward in basketball, he averaged nearly 20 points a game and was also the starting shortstop on the baseball diamond.

Before attending Clemson, Barber matriculated to Fork Union Prep School in Virginia. There, he had over 20 sacks and recorded 112 tackles. He was named the Defensive Player of the Year. All along he has had great support from his family.

"Being close to home, my family can come and see me play, that was important when I decided to attend Clemson," said Barber, who was MVP in football and baseball at Lewisville High School. "Overall, Clemson is a good school. Athletically, it's a 'football town' and it's known for its linebackers. I like the atmosphere in Clemson."

Encouraged by his grandfather, he is not only at Clemson to play ball, but to graduate (which he will do in August). A secondary education major, Barber is intrigued by political science and economics. He impassionately expresses, "There is something about Wall Street that is really exciting. The stock market is amazing. I like to study politics and how the economy of other countries work. It's just interesting." Although he finds the stock market and politics fascinating, his interests lie in teaching high school students. With a smile, he adds, "I really wouldn't mind teaching. Kids are at an influential stage. I want to make a difference. They need to learn to be confident and be a leader, not a follower." Adamantly, he adds, "The problem with being a follower is, because of the crowd, it's too easy to get off track."

Teammate Matt Reeves respectfully affirms Barber's ability to be a leader. "Mike leads by example, not by voice. Even with injuries, he leads. We have seen him go out of the game, have his shoulder reset, and come right back in. Then, he will play each snap like it's the Tommy West is another of the growing list of Mike Barber fans. "We have had great senior leadership this year and Mike Barber is certainly one of the main reasons. We don't have a lot of seniors who play a lot of snaps on this team, so it has been important that the ones who do have outstanding leadership qualities. Mike Barber has come through time and again this year on the field and off the field. He has a lot of ability and he has a lot of great intangible qualities.

"Mike has shown his grit and determination this year by playing through injuries and this determination has set a tone for the entire team to give their best on every play."

Barber loves football, that might be the reason he has succeeded despite the roadblocks he has faced. "I get a rush from playing defense. There is nothing like it. I just enjoy going out and playing the game. When you make a big play to stop an opposing team's drive or get a takeaway, it just feels great and makes all the hard work and all the practice worthwhile."

Consistent with Barber's beliefs, Les Herrin, defensive line coach remarks, "As a senior, Mike has assumed the responsibility role. Each year, he has improved and he is willing to work hard to do his best. He's just a natural born leader and sportsman. Part of that is because he loves to play the game."

Darnell Stephens, senior outside linebacker, who has been a teammate of Barber for four years states, "Mike is a fierce competitor. As a team leader, he is one aggressive linebacker. He believes in team leadership and commitment."

Mike Barber might be summed up in this statement, "I was taught to be tight and not to take flack off folk. That's why I'm so stubborn. I don't back down: not from an opponent, not my injuries, not anything. I think that attitude has helped me throughout my Clemson career and it will help me later in the business world or whatever I do."

What we mean by putting South Carolina first.

We founded Carolina First because, well, because we felt we had to.

- South Carolina's community banks were being bought up and run to serve absentee owners.

- Being South Carolinians, we didn't care to do without a strong bank dedicated to our state's well-being.

Being bankers, we created this bank. • If we understand South Carolina's needs, it's because they're the needs of our own friends and neighbors. We invest in South Carolina businesses because it's good business for all concerned. After all, when our home communities grow and prosper, we grow and prosper. And because we treat our customers as the individuals they are, their good feelings spark our own. • We'd treat any customer from anywhere this way. But by design – and in conscious contrast to the multi-state megabanks – our customers are South Carolinians. So are we. Is it any wonder we put South Carolina first?

A large, vibrant red circle is the central focus, featuring the word "Blitz" in a bold, white, sans-serif font. This circle is set against a dark, textured background that resembles a chalkboard. Surrounding the red circle is a hand-drawn diagram in white chalk. The diagram consists of a circular path with several 'X' marks at the top and two small circles at the bottom. Arrows indicate a clockwise flow around the central red circle, suggesting a cycle or a process.

Wardell Rouse

by Jamie Hill

Clemson's Wardell Rouse is a rarity, a junior college transfer who has been a two-year starter and team leader.

As a 1993 third-team All-ACC selection, preseason Butkus Award candidate, and the #8 Outside Linebacker in America by Sporting News in its preseason publication for 1994, some would say that these accomplishments would be difficult to reach, much less to surpass them. But senior Wardell Rouse takes his honors in stride using them as motivation in fact, and he is never afraid to offer leadership to his teammates.

Rouse is a leader in many aspects. The senior from Clewiston, FL leads the 1994 Clemson Tigers in sacks with 5.5 for 30 yards, caused fumbles (3), blocked kicks (1), and is second on the team in tackles for loss (10).

Not only is Rouse a leader according to the statistics, he exhibits leadership on the field in the form of keeping morale high and offering support to his teammates. Outside Linebackers coach Ellis Johnson likes Rouse's confidence and leadership on and off the field. "I've been very pleased with Wardell, not only with his playing abilities, but with his leadership on the field. Some of the players have gotten a little frustrated at times this year with their individual performances and Wardell has been very supportive with them."

To add to his accomplishments this season, Rouse tied the Clemson record for sacks in a game in the Maryland win last season. It was the seventh time a Clemson player had recorded three sacks in a game, but Rouse became the first Tiger linebacker to do it. Other former Tigers who had three sacks in a game were Michael Dean Perry, who accomplished this feat twice, Chester McGlockton, and Brentson Buckner. All of these former Tigers are currently playing in the National Football League.

In 1994, Rouse has been named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game at Florida State, where he recorded nine tackles, seven of which were first hits, and one sack. He was also named the Army ROTC Take No Prisoners Award winner versus Furman, where he put up impressive statistics. He had seven tackles (six first hits), three tackles-for-loss for negative 15 yards, and one and a half sacks for negative 12 yards. "Being named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game against Florida State was a special accomplishment for me, because I grew up near Florida State and I always disliked the Seminoles. It was also very enjoyable to get this honor because, next to playing at Death Valley, Doak Campbell Stadium is my favorite place to play because I had a lot of friends in the stands."

Rouse earned third-team All-ACC honors his first year, the first junior college transfer in Clemson history to be chosen to an All-ACC team of any kind in his first year. "After my first season at Clemson, being third on the team in tackles I didn't think anyone really noticed me, and it was a real shock to me to make All-ACC in my first year at the Division I level. It was very pleasing to find out that the sportswriters realized that I was a talented player."

This honor has given Rouse a challenge to strive to make improvements in practice and in the weight-room. "During the off-season, I hit the weights pretty hard and tried to get myself in better physical condition for the 1994 season." Along with his prestigious Butkus nomination, Rouse was picked as a preseason First-Team All-ACC for 1994 by the Athlon sports magazine. "Some people don't make a lot of preseason awards, but it gave me a lot of confidence throughout this season, and I use it as a motivational tool everytime I compete on the football field. It gives me something to shoot for."

As a junior coming out of Itawamba Junior College in Fulton, MS, Rouse was rated as the 37th-best Junior College player in the nation by SuperPrep. One would think the transition from junior college to a major Division I college team would be a difficult task to overcome, but Rouse proved most everybody flat wrong.

"I've been asked that question a lot, and I think the transition for me was very smooth. Coming out of high school, I thought I could play at the Division I level." In 1993, Rouse was third on the team with 78 tackles, behind 1993 First-Team All-ACC linemen Brentson Buckner and fellow 1994 Butkus Award candidate Tim Jones. He was also second on the team in sacks (3-4 yards) and in tackles-for-loss (10-19 yards). His 78 tackles in 1993 rank as the highest total ever for a Tiger JUCO transfer in his first year of eligibility.

In 1993, Rouse played the Inside Linebacker position for several games in a 4-3 defensive set, which gave him the opportunity to rush the quarterback more often. This season he has been moved to the outside linebacker position in a 5-2 defensive set and has had to learn several different techniques, which means covering a lot more open space. Coach Johnson is impressed with Rouse's quick adaptability to the outside linebacker position. "He's (Rouse) had an excellent year, and one of the things that I'm most impressed about is his performance in the pass rush, which could help his opportunities to play after he leaves Clemson University."

If Rouse moves on to the NFL, he already has a player to emulate. Derrick Thomas of the Kansas City Chiefs has provided Rouse with the motivation and drive to reach his goals of playing on Sundays. "I'm a big Miami Dolphins fan, but my favorite player I'd have to say is Derrick Thomas because he is so exciting to watch. His aggressiveness and style of play are things I try to pattern. When I have the chance to watch a game on television, I try to focus in on how he plays and learn new techniques from him."

Rouse also emulates Thomas and other NFL outside linebackers in terms of strength training habits and statistics. Strength training, like running practice drills, is a vital part of the entire training process. He has been cited as being the strongest outside linebacker at Clemson on a pound-for-pound basis since Tiger strength coaches began keeping stats 10 years ago. Rouse boasts the best power ratio (6.83) by a Clemson linebacker, which is pretty impressive since Clemson has sent five players at the linebacker position to the NFL in the last three years. His Speed (4.62) is another asset that could prolong his career.

For Rouse to move on to the NFL he realizes he must have it all: work ethic, raw speed, agility, mental toughness and a basic football sense. But, he also realizes there are intangibles, intangibles he and his linebackers teammates have displayed at Clemson this year.

"All the linebackers have been leaders this year, and that has been a good experience for us. We all understand the Clemson tradition. We can use individual honors and accomplishments to motivate us, but we all know that those awards are secondary to what the team accomplishes. How you fit in to any team concept is the most important thing at any level of football."

Sounds like Wardell Rouse has the total package necessary to continue his football career into the 21st century.

Rouse is Clemson's leader in sacks in 1994.

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 61st year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletic costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in ensuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

IPTAY completed another record breaking year in 1993-94 when it went over the $6 million mark for the first time. The total number of members reached over 18,000. The Tiger Cub Club was also introduced for the first time, giving Clemson fans from birth to age 22 a chance to become involved in Tiger athletics.

Thanks to this support on the field, Clemson enjoyed another banner year in 1993-94. The program ranked 16th among all-around programs in the nation according to the Sears NACDA rankings, and had nine teams ranked among the top 25 in the respective final rankings. Clemson was especially successful in the Spring when the baseball, golf and track teams were all ranked among the top 11 in the nation. Clemson's traditional sports of football, basketball and baseball were also successful. Clemson and Florida were the only teams in the nation to win at least nine football games, 18 basketball games and 36 baseball games.

It was also a banner year academically. Soccer goal keeper Jaro Zawislan was the recipient of the ACC's Jim Weaver Award as one of the outstanding all-around student-athletes in the league. In the Spring semester of 1994, 43 student athletes were on the dean's list and 14 had a perfect 4.0. Tiger football player Warren Forney was the recipient of Clemson's Algernon Sydney-Sullivan Award, which is given to a Clemson student for outstanding service to others.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to ensure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson", a long range fund-raising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus, is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small group instruction.

The generous support of loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the outdoor track with new stadium facilities, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

The facilities are among the best in the country, at least that must be the opinion of the NCAA. Over the last two years Clemson has played host to NCAA events in four different sports, including three in 1993-94.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.9 million in funds, currently benefiting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators, are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

Tommy West spoke to a record 38 IPTAY meetings last spring. The organization is the reason Clemson offers a full complement of scholarships in each sport.

Emergency Services

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:

Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:

The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.

2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL

Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion."

Find out what's really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

McFadden Building

by Tim Bourret

Acting on the recommendation of the IPTAY Board of Directors with concurrence by the University Commission on Names, the Clemson Board of Trustees unanimously approved at their April 8, 1994 meeting the naming of the annex to the Jervay Athletic Center as the Banks McFadden Building. The facility, which will house football offices and meeting rooms, is currently under construction and is scheduled to be completed in February 1995.

The McFadden Building will be a 20,000 square foot facility that will house all the offices and meeting rooms for Clemson's football team. There will be separate state-of-the-art meeting rooms for all nine position areas on the Clemson football team. It will also house a trophy and memorabilia area at its entrance. Additionally, there will be an office complete with video equipment for Professional Scouts, who visit Clemson to evaluate Tiger talent frequently.

When the football staff moves out of its current offices in the Jervay Athletic Center it will allow the other sports to spread out its office area, thereby creating separate offices for assistant coaches.

"This building will benefit Clemson student-athletes in many ways," said Clemson Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. "It will certainly upgrade our football facilities, but it will also help the non-revenue sports on a day to day basis because they will have more room. When we built the Jervay Athletic Center in 1973 we didn't even have any women's sports. We have doubled in size since then."

The building of the McFadden building will complete the overall renovation of the Jervay Athletic Center. This past summer the Tiger football team came back to a new and expanded locker room with fresh paint, new carpeting, new lockers and more space. The training room was also expanded and a player lounge area, complete with video games and television, was added. By next year the weight room below the Jervay Athletic Center will be increased in size to 14,000 square feet. A television studio will also be designed and constructed as part of the Jervay Center remodeling.

"The completion of this building will give us outstanding facilities in every area," said Head Coach Tommy West. "We now have a stadium that is second to none as far as its appearance, tradition and ability to accommodate large crowds in a pleasant and unique setting. We have a new, modern and spacious locker room, team area and training facilities. And, the meeting and office areas will now be comfortable places to learn and work."

"This program worked hard this year and it will always work hard. We spend so much time together it is important to have comfortable, facilities that allow you to get the best out of your players and coaches. If your facilities are top of the line, you will have the full attention of your players. With the NCAA rules limiting practice and meeting time, it is important to get the most out of this time period."

Clemson hopes the McFadden Building will enhance the Tiger football tradition, so it is fitting that the building is named after, perhaps, the greatest athlete in Clemson history.

McFadden Building adds to Clemson's list of impressive football facilities.

The McFadden Building is named after Clemson's greatest all-around athlete.

"It is fitting that this facility bear the name of Banks McFadden, the only Clemson athlete honored as the Nation's Most Versatile Athlete," said Robinson. "Banks McFadden has served this University in so many ways for so long."

"This is a tribute to a man who has given a lifetime of service to Clemson University," said Nick Lomax, Clemson vice president for administration. "I can't think of anyone more deserving of this honor."

McFadden was an All-American in football and basketball during the 1939 calendar year. He led the Tiger basketball team to the 1939 Southern Conference Championship, then guided the Clemson football team to a Cotton Bowl victory over Boston College and a number-11 national ranking the following fall. He was also the top track performer in the state and led Clemson to the state championship.

McFadden is the only former Clemson football player to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame and is also a charter member of the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame and the Clemson Hall of Fame. He received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from Clemson in 1966.

After retiring from coaching in 1969, McFadden served as director of Clemson's intramural program for 16 years. In all, he spent nearly 50 years as a student-athlete, coach and administrator at Clemson.

"I am deeply humbled and gratified by this tremendous honor and would like to thank all who made it possible," said McFadden.

Clemson's 20,000 square foot McFadden Building will be ready in February. It will house all new meeting rooms and offices for Tiger players and coaches.

Hall of Fame

by Sam Blackman

Perhaps one of the greatest assets we possess is our memories.

Trophies, plaques, and halls of fame were designed to remind us of accomplishments and goals that were reached by individuals and teams as the years go by. Today, the Clemson Hall of Fame will honor seven former Tiger athletes and coaches who have created valuable recollections that are tucked away safely in many people's memory banks—memories that have set a standard of excellence in leadership and athletic ability.

With today's induction ceremony, the Clemson Hall of Fame has 127 members. Those being honored today include: Jimmy Addison, Dreher Gaskin, Mitzi Kremer, Dewey Quinn, Bob Paulling, Walter Riggs, and Annie Tribble.

Jimmy Addison was a standout quarterback in 1965-67. He was named All-ACC in 1966 and was an Academic All-ACC selection in 1967. He later was a recipient of the NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship in 1968. He still ranks in the top 10 in Clemson history in passing yardage, completions, percentage, and touchdowns. Addison was also the first Clemson quarterback to complete over 50% of his passes and complete over 200 passes during his career.

"This is a great honor," said Addison. "I have always thought of Clemson as a big family and being inducted in the Clemson Hall of Fame is like receiving a gift from your family.

"I have many fond memories of my Clemson experience. My greatest memories are of my friends and the effort we put together as a team. Some of my teammates are still some of my best friends."

Dreher Gaskin, Jr. played football at Clemson between 1950-53. He was Clemson's first first-team All-ACC performer in 1953. Gaskin played in the annual College All-Star Game in Chicago in 1954 and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game in 1953. He was also a participant in the Senior Bowl Game in 1954. Gaskin was drafted by the Detroit Lions in the 10th round.

"I am excited about being selected to the Clemson Hall of Fame. I am proud to be one of the few Tiger athletes selected. My fondest memories came when we played in the Orange and Gator Bowls during my career. I always wanted to go to school at Clemson and it was a great experience for me."

Mitzi Kremer was a four-time NCAA swimming champion during her career in 1986-89. She was a NCAA champion in the 200 free and the 500 free in both the 1987 and 1989 seasons. Kremer earned a Bronze Medal in the 1988 Olympics in the 4 X 100 meter relay. She was the first Clemson athlete to win an Olympic medal while enrolled at the school. Perhaps her greatest moment occurred at the 1989

NCAA Meet when she set a NCAA record in the 200 free when she won the event. Kremer also scored more points than any other individual at the NAAs that year. She was a two-time ACC Swimmer-of-the-Year during her Clemson tenure.

"It's hard to put in words what being selected to the Clemson Hall of Fame means. It is beyond my beliefs, and it is a special honor. My most memorable moment at Clemson was winning the 200 and 500 meter freestyle events at the NCAA meet when I was a freshman. I could not believe I won those events. I owe a great deal to (former Coach) Bob Boettner."

The Father of Clemson Athletics, Dr. Walter Merritt Riggs, is also being honored today. Riggs was Clemson's first football coach and started the athletic department at Clemson College in 1896. He served as the President of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association and acted as Clemson's first Athletic Director. Clemson's first football stadium and current soccer field is named in his honor (Riggs Field). He also hired the legendary John Heisman as Clemson's Football Coach in 1900.

Dewey Quinn was a three-sport star for the Tigers between 1943-46. He played football, basketball, and baseball during his career. He led the 1946 baseball team in batting average (.365) and led the 1946 and 1947 baseball teams in RBIs. Quinn is one of just 15 athletes in Clemson history to letter in three different sports.

"This is the biggest honor I have ever had. I had great experiences playing for Clemson in three sports. My most memorable moments came in baseball when we played in the baseball playoffs at New Haven CT, at Yale. George Bush played at Yale at the time. We also beat Georgia Tech in football (1945), and that was just the second time we had beaten them since 1907."

Bob Paulling was a two-sport star in football and baseball in 1979-83. He was a first-team All-ACC placekicker in football for the Tigers in 1983. He was ranked 11th in the nation in scoring (8.2 points a game), was sixth in kick-scoring and 10th in field goals per game.

Paulling set Clemson's career record for field goal percentage as he made 34-41 (.829). He also set Clemson's career record for extra points with 107, as he missed just two in his entire career. In baseball, Paulling was named All-ACC in 1983 when he batted .407. The .407 average set the school record for highest batting average given a minimum of 150 at bats, a mark that was broken last year by current Tiger Shane Monahan. Paulling is one of only two players in Clemson history to record six hits in a game and three home runs in a game, and is the only Clemson athlete in the decade of the 1980s to be named first-team All-ACC in two sports.

"I am very honored and fortunate to be inducted into the Clemson University Hall of Fame. I had a great time competing in both football and baseball. I really appreciate Coach (Danny) Ford and Coach (Bill) Wilhelm pushing me so I could be the best I could be. Some moments that come to mind would be the day I had six hits in a baseball game against Georgia Tech and the day I hit three home runs against Georgia. In football, winning the National Championship in the 1982 Orange Bowl speaks for itself."

A name synonymous with Clemson Lady Tiger Basketball is former Head Coach Annie Tribble. Tribble served as Head Coach for the Lady Tigers for 11 seasons (1976-87). During this time she coached seven +20 win seasons. Her teams appeared in seven postseason tournaments, including the inaugural NCAA Tournament in 1982.

In 11 seasons, Tribble coached Clemson to a 200-135 record, for a 60 percent mark. In her career at Clemson and Anderson Junior College, she amassed a 355-168 record in 20 years for a 68 percent mark.

Tribble coached Clemson to the 1980-81 ACC Regular Season Championship, the Lady Tigers' first regular season title in Clemson women's basketball history. She coached five All-Americans at Clemson and was a charter member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association.

She was inducted into the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame in 1994. Tribble graduated from Clemson in 1966 and earned a master's degree from Clemson in 1969.

"I feel very honored and excited going into the Clemson Hall of Fame. It is a big honor not only for me, but my family. When I look back there are many memories. Some that stand out are winning the ACC regular season title in 1981 and going to the ACC Tournament finals in 1982. I also had the opportunity to coach the South Squad and win the gold medal at the Olympic Festival. However, I most remember the players I had the privilege to coach. That is what it is all about. I really enjoyed working with the young people and the satisfaction that came with it."

Lady Tiger Basketball

by Sam Blackman

There's strength in numbers.

This is an old adage that comes to mind when talking to Clemson Head Coach Jim Davis about his team for 1994-95. Never before has Clemson had so much depth under Davis. He feels as though his team has 13 players who can step in and contribute at any point in the game.

"The key to this year's team is everybody has to carry their share of the load," said Davis who will be entering his eighth year as head coach of the Lady Tigers. Everyone has to contribute, chip in and add their different dimension to our cause. We can't replace Jessica Barr, (Kodak All-American) our leading scorer and rebounder in 1993-94, with one player. We do not have a player of that caliber, however, I do think we have a great blend of veterans and newcomers.

"This team is going to have great depth. We have 13 players who are going to be able to contribute. Our inside situation will be determined by how well Jaci Stimson comes off her knee surgery. I think she proved her freshman year that she can play at this level."

Clemson finished the 1993-94 season with a 20-10 record overall and won a school-record 11 ACC games. The Lady Tigers advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the seventh consecutive year. Clemson is one of only 10 schools in the nation to participate in the last seven NCAA Tournaments.

"We should be a good shooting team. I don't think we will have to rely on one person having a hot hand on a particular night. I think this will be the most balanced team we have had since I have been at Clemson. We may not have a player averaging in double figures in scoring, instead, we may have 10 or 12 girls averaging in the seven and eight point range. Three-point shooting will be a big part of our game plan.

"I think we are going to be very deep, and this is going to be the most athletic team we have ever had. We are going to be a team of fighters. I expect this team to be a group of determined young ladies who will fight, paw, and claw for everything they will get on the basketball court.

"Our rebounding will be a question mark this season. We were not a good rebounding team last year. Our style of play will create turnovers and defending shots better. We will have good size at the guard position, but we are not that big inside. A lot of our rebounding ability again will depend on how well Jaci recovers from her knee surgery."

Clemson lost starting point guard Dana Puckett (6.0 ppg., 3.2 apg.) to graduation but shooting guard Tara Saunooke (11.4 ppg. 2.5 apg.) returns. Other returnees include Calesha Corder, Dory Kidd and Angie Salyer.

Saunooke is Clemson's all time leader in three point field goals made and the conference's all-time leader in three-point field goal percentage. "She had her best season as a three point scoring threat for us last year. We are looking for leadership from Tara in the upcoming season. She is a proven weapon for us on the offensive end. She will draw a lot of attention from opposing defenses from the tipoff of our season."

The Lady Tigers also return reserve point guard Calesha Corder, who averaged 5.3 points per game, and finished the season with 68 assists, in just 18.6 minutes per game. "Calesha was a very valuable back-up point guard in 1993-94. She received a lot of playing time last year and played very solid basketball for us at the end of the year. The ball is in her hands as we start the new year.

Junior Dory Kidd saw action in 30 games last year averaging 15.3 minutes per game. She finished the season averaging 2.9 points per game and 2.1 rebounds per contest. "I don't think Dory has exploded on the scene like she is capable of doing. I think she has the potential to be a solid performer in this league at the number- two or three positions. Dory is very athletic and has great strength and size.

Angie Salyer saw action in 25 games in 1993-94 as a freshman and should also contribute in the backcourt.

The Lady Tigers added two newcomers to the backcourt in Jeanette Davis and Stephanie Ridgeway. Davis was a honorable mention All-American and earned all state honors in Tennessee last year. Her twin sister Jennifer will play in the front court. Ridgeway, a junior college transfer from Truett-McConnell Junior College (Cleveland, GA) averaged 22.4 ppg., and 3.2 rpg. her sophomore season. She finished the season hitting 58% from the floor and 40% from the three-point line.

Clemson must replace ACC Player -of-the-Year Jessica Barr in the frontcourt, but there is still great depth with the return of starters Renee Rayton and Dawn Stewart. The Lady Tigers return three other players who picked up a great deal of experience in 1993-94, they include: Jaci Stimson, Laura Cottrell, and Alison Rhoad.

Stewart was the Lady Tigers' third leading scorer in 1993-94 with a 8.3 ppg. average. She also averaged 2.7 rpg. and 21.9 minutes per game. "Dawn had a good freshman year. Although inconsistent in some games, she played like an All-American. I think that can be said of any freshman coming in this league. She had the opportunity to get her feet on the ground and she without a doubt is one of the best athletes to play at Clemson. Dawn is a complete player for us."

Rayton was the Lady Tigers' second leading rebounder with a 5.8 rpg. mark. She started 21 games while averaging 23.1 minutes per contest. "Renee is classified as the most versatile player on the team because she can play either of the two forward positions well. You know what you are going to get from Renee night in and night out. She had some outstanding performances and was very instrumental in us winning some big basketball games last year. She is a 'model' Lady Tiger.

Alison Rhoad played in 20 games, averaging 5.8 minutes per game last year. "Alison Rhoad still has back problems and is still a question mark for this season. There is no question she can score. She is our answer to instant offense. When she comes in a game, she always gives us that extra punch."

Laura Cottrell averaged 11.2 minutes per game in 27 contests last season and contributed 4.0 points and 2.6 rebounds per outing, fine numbers for a rookie. She came on strong at the end of the season, as shown by her 14 point performance in the ACC Tournament against N.C. State.

Clemson added three players to the frontcourt. Jennifer Davis was a honorable mention All-American and earned all-state honors in Tennessee. Her twin sister Jeanette will play in the backcourt. Kerri Thomas has the size to contribute immediately in the frontcourt, while Brook Staebell was a 20-point scorer two years ago, but missed most of her senior year of high school due to a knee injury.

The Lady Tigers play an exhibition game against Latvia this coming Wednesday at 7:00 PM at Littlejohn Coliseum. The first regular season game will be against Western Kentucky on November 27 at the Sports Belle Classic in Murfreesboro, TN. The first home game will be November 30 against Western Carolina at 7:00 PM.

Saunooke is the ACC career three-point goal leader.

REALLY GOTTEN

OFF THE GROUND.

Today, in Clarendon County near upper Lake Marion, Laidlaw Environmental's commitment to the lasting glory of the natural world is taking wing.

In partnership with the South Carolina Waterfowl Association, we have restored a clay mine to create a premier Wetland Wildlife Education Management Center. Specially designed to showcase waterfowl in their own habitat, it will provide children and adults with a unique chance to better understand the beauty and responsibility of the world around them. And as home to a Clemson University study of plant and animal life on bottom-land hardwood forest, the center is a model for corporate environmental responsibility.

For all that changes in this world, one thing is certain: Nature must endure. At Laidlaw Environmental, we're doing our part to make that happen. For our state. For our children. For everyone.

Vickery Hall

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment - giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Services (SAES), has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisers' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisers, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athlete Enrichment.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are in turn, connected to a world-wide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

Today's Band Program

by Brenda Rabon

Today as the Clemson Tigers face the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets, we celebrate Hall of Fame Day in Death Valley. Every year on this day, former players, coaches, alumni, and fans of Clemson recognize former Tiger greats. Now is the time to reflect on the profound effect these inductees have made on the heritage of Clemson athletics.

To highlight this special day is none other than Clemson University's Tiger Band—"The Band That Shakes the Southland!" Tiger Band is the official marching band of Clemson University.

Tiger Band includes 210 students from all nine colleges in the University which represent 46 different academic areas of study. Band members find that being involved in the Clemson band program enriches their extracurricular horizons without taking away from their academic progress.

Known nationwide for its precision marching, dynamic sound, and famous Clemson Spirit, the band performs at all Clemson football games, both home and away. Clemson is one of the few schools in the country that sends a band representation to every road game. The band is well-known for rousing the famous Tiger spirit for hundreds of thousands of fans at these games.

Tiger Band's traditional sideline entrance today is marked by the sound of the famous "Sock It To 'Em/Tiger Rag." Fans everywhere begin to feel the famous Tiger spirit as they anxiously anticipate the invasion of the Tiger team into Death Valley.

Attention is then directed to the 25 yard line where Jason Barnard, Tiger Band Commander and Student Director, has the honor of dotting the "i" in the script Tigers.

Barnard is in his first year as Commander of Tiger Band and his third year as Tiger Band Student Director. He is a six-year member of Tiger Band's percussion section. The native of Orlando, Florida is a graduate of Dr. Phillips High School. Barnard is a senior majoring in Mathematical Teaching.

Pregame festivities continue with one of John Phillip Sousa's most renowned marches, "Washington Post." The colors are presented by the Clemson University Pershing Rifles Company C4. Everyone then stands and joins Tiger Band, under the direction of Dr. Mark Hosler, to honor America in singing "God Bless America."

The invocation is delivered and the crowd is asked to join in the Pledge of Allegiance, and the singing of our National Anthem, conducted by Clemson University Director of Bands, Dr. Richard Goodstein. Tiger Band then performs the Clemson University Alma Mater and asks all to join in singing.

Tiger Band then takes part in the greatest stadium entrance in college sports as they play "Sock it to 'Em/Tiger Rag" as they march to the east end of Memorial Stadium to form the tunnel for the players to run through. As the cannon booms, the team rubs Howard's Rock and charges down the hill to face the Yellow Jackets.

Halftime festivities begin today with the introduction of the inductees into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame. The seven being honored are Jimmy Addison, Dreher Gaskin, Mitzi Kremer, Dewey Quinn, Bob Paulling, Walter Riggs, and Annie Tribble. We salute these Clemson greats and the contributions each of them has made to Clemson University.

Tiger Band's halftime show is entitled "The Sound of Music." Music selections include "The Sound of Music" followed by the popular tune "Do-Re-Mi." "My Favorite Things" concludes Tiger Band's performance. The band then exits the field in the traditional spelling "Clemson" while playing the "Song that Shakes the Southland...TIGER RAG!"

One of the featured groups during today's halftime show is the Tiger Drum Line, a select group of Clemson students who audition for a position in the percussion section each fall. The Drum Line instrumentation is: 8 Snare Drums, 4 Quints, 5 Bass Drums, 8 Cymbals, and a Sideline Pit Section. The captain of the Drum Line is Steve Dick, a junior from Moline, Illinois, majoring in Management. This group of students is an integral part of Tiger Band and one that is dedicated to making Tiger spirit felt by all fans.

The Tiger Band staff includes Dr. Mark Hosler, marching band director, Dr. Rick Goodstein, director of university bands, Cheryl Hosler, Flag Line Instructor, and Hazel Martin, Twirler Instructor.

As another day closes in Tiger football history, we salute Tiger Band for keeping Clemson spirit alive. We salute this outstanding group of students for the time and effort they offer for continuing Clemson's tradition of excellence.

CLEMSON: EVER CHANGING...

Helping keep fruit farming a viable South Carolina industry is what Clemson's new Musser Fruit Research Facility is all about. Dedicated last April, it is the Southeast's premier fruit research facility and will serve as a model for regional fruit research. Construction of the fruit research facility was completed last spring at the 230-acre Musser Fruit Farm located at Oconee Point, about 10 miles from the main campus on the western shore of the Seneca River arm of Lake Hartwell. It was built and equipped with a $1.5-million state bond to improve fruit research facilities at Clemson. A 3,300-square-foot main building houses the farm office, laboratory, work areas and cold storage facilities. Peach production is the main focus of the research, but apples, nectarines, kiwi fruit, blackberries and Asian pears also are being studied. The farm is named in honor of a distinguished horticulturist who served Clemson for many years — the late Albert Myers Musser, professor and department head (1936-1959) emeritus. The facilities at Clemson are ever changing...

STILL SOLID AS THE ROCK

Why some teams have a stronger bench than others.

by Jessica Reo

Miles Aldridge, defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach for the Tigers, gives no better testimonial about Clemson to prospects and their families than the fact that his oldest daughter, Allison, is a freshman at Clemson this year.

"We thought this was the best all-around place for her and for all of us," states Aldridge. "She is interested in being a lawyer and possibly going into politics. We talked about where she would be practicing or work and thought that it would be better for her to stay in South Carolina and around here."

That philosophy carries through into Aldridge's thoughts on recruiting and new football players. "It's much like recruiting football players...they should stay close to home or stay in state if this is where they want to make their home later down the road," comments Aldridge.

Another testimonial that Aldridge has for Clemson is the fact that he returned here after coaching stints at North Carolina State and South Carolina. From 1985-89, Aldridge was the inside linebacker coach for the Tigers. "Our hardest move was probably leaving Clemson in 1989 because we were somewhat settled here in one of the top programs in the country." If you glance over his coaching resume prior to his first stint at Clemson, the diverse list includes stops at East Tennessee State, Wichita State, Tulsa, Mississippi and Duke.

But movement in coaching never stops, especially in order to obtain more prestigious positions. "I had the opportunity to go to North Carolina for a year (to N.C. State)," states Aldridge, "and I enjoyed that very much. Later, I had another opportunity to move to South Carolina (to the University of South Carolina) and be a coordinator there, which I thought was a very important move for me and the family. We've moved around a lot in coaching, to always improve my status as a coach. I've moved my family in order to move up the corporate ladder of coaching. We're at the point where it's a little tiring, but we had to do what we had to do. We've adjusted as a family."

Moving was not always easy for the Aldridges. Coach Aldridge didn't always want to move his wife Cathy, and pull his two daughters, Allison and Blakely, out of their schools and environment. Their well being is important to Aldridge. "If we had been at North Carolina State any longer, I probably wouldn't have taken that position at South Carolina. We felt like we hadn't been in North Carolina that long that we couldn't uproot again. That was something to consider again, and I promised her (Allison) that I wouldn't move while she was in school. When we made the move to Clemson, she stayed in Columbia and finished out school."

"My kids have always adjusted well. Coaches kids are like army brats. The moving is good for them in a lot of ways because they learn new situations and they are a little bit more outgoing, it makes them stronger, tougher than sitting in a stagnant situation."

Coaching though, has a set of guidelines that all coaches know about when they start their careers, and one thing they learn is to be mobile. And for some coaches, especially for Aldridge, that one sacrifice isn't that hard to make. "I'd hate to think of what I would have done if I didn't coach. I just don't know. I was like a lot of kids, I had visions of going pro in football and baseball. I went off to college and found out I wasn't good enough to do those things and I decided then that I needed to find another way to stay in this industry."

"Coaching, at that point, became extremely important to me. Coaching was my link to stay in sports. I always had it in the back of my mind that I would probably be coaching some day, but the reality of not going into professional sports made that option come a lot quicker for me."

And coaching is something that Aldridge takes seriously. Lessons he has learned from his high school coach are lessons that he talks to his players about today. Aldridge comments, "I had asked my high school coach to recommend me for football and baseball. I had been scouted by some people in baseball, so naturally, that's where I thought I was going to go. He (Jim Pinkerton) said he'd recommend me for football, but not baseball. He told me that I couldn't hit the curve and I eventually went on to play football in college. I will always appreciate his honesty although that was not really what I wanted to hear. And that is what I base my whole coaching philosophy on, honesty. Being honest, sometimes brutally honest because that's the right thing."

The players are very important to Aldridge, how he reacts to them and how he deals with them. Coming into a new situation with the Tigers as the new defensive back coach at the end of a season and coaching them in the bowl game and through spring drills was an important learning experience for both the coaching staff and the players. "They (the players) had probably heard stories of some of us from when we were here before. But since we've been here they've worked extremely hard. They're attitude, in my mind, has been exceptional."

"They may not like everything that I say and do, but I want them to know that I am always concerned for their best interest. Hard work, honesty, something that they may not want to hear, but from me, they'll get everything straight up."

What the players feel about Aldridge matters to him a great deal. And how they feel about him comes back to his coaching philosophy. "I naturally want them to all like me. That would be great, but that doesn't always happen. I want them to know that no matter what the personal dealings we have, that no matter what happens, they can believe in what I say. I'll always tell them the truth, that doesn't mean it's always right, it just means it's the truth. I'm a coach first. Now, coaches have to earn their players' respect. Honesty is the best way to earn that respect."

Philosophies often draw coaches together, and that's what happened with Miles and head coach Tommy West. West expects the same type of response from his staff and players that coach Aldridge does from his co-workers and his defensive players. "We have been friends for a while. The first time we ran across each other was at Ole Miss. He was probably coming in as I was leaving. I came to work here in 1985 and we were on this staff together for five years. We were separated for a year after that and then we were back together again at South Carolina. That's where my decision was made to come back here when Tommy (West) returned as the head coach," states Aldridge.

Miles Aldridge has a basic philosophy. He demands honesty from his family, from his co-workers, and from his players. He's the type of person who will accept nothing less, and that has dictated where his career has taken him and his family.

Yearly Clemson trip to Atlanta was like a bowl game.

Clemson and Georgia Tech used to play their football game in Atlanta every year. About the only positive side-effect for Clemson of this annual trek, besides getting a $125,000 guarantee, was that the athletic department wives could go on this weekend....free.

Many of the wives took this opportunity to get most of their Christmas shopping in the bag at Lenox Square. There were no Phipps Plaza, Perimeter Mall, Gwinnett Place or any of the other now well-shopped malls—just Lenox Square.

And, did they drop money by the hand-bag full at Lenox! The weekend was anything but free for the suffering husbands, who had their minds more on Yellow Jackets than neckties and handkerchiefs.

But Frank Howard of Clemson and Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech had become rivals many years before and Dodd saw this game as a good warm-up for his next opponent such as Alabama, Tennessee or the like. However, that didn't always work. Dodd was 8-1 against Howard, but only 5-4 in his game the following week. Howard used to say: "I could take a pretty good beating for what Dodd paid me. Back then, this was pretty much our 'bowl game' each year."

Howard and Dodd first began looking across at each other in 1928 when Howard was at Alabama and Dodd was at Tennessee. The Vols defeated the Tide in both '28 (15-13) and '29 (6-0), but in '30, Wallace Wade's team gave Tennessee an 18-6 licking and headed to the Rose Bowl. The Tide whipped up on Washington State, 24-0.

"He was a pretty good college player," Howard recalls about Dodd, "and a dog gone good college coach. He'd beat you one way or the other...he or the officials."

Howard recalls playing in Atlanta once when one of the Tech players was returning a punt. There was no doubt the player went out of bounds right in front of the Yellow Jacket bench. "He ran out of bounds and even ran around (behind) Dodd," Howard remembers, "but some of the players on the sideline pushed the ball carrier back in and away he went (for a touchdown)."

Dodd and Howard did not face each other as head coaches until 1945, which was Howard's sixth season at Clemson, but Dodd's first at Georgia Tech. The Tigers had a tailback named Butch Butler whom Howard was getting a weekend pass each Saturday so he could get out of service long enough to play a football game.

The Tigers invaded Atlanta and Dodd started his second team against Clemson. By halftime, Butler had his team up by a 14-0 count.

Howard recalls that Butler told Dodd as the teams left the field at halftime: "You'd better put that first team back in there." Howard says he doesn't know, "why he started his second team. We had just played Tulane the week before and beat them pretty bad (47-20). I've also heard that Georgia Tech did not scout Clemson for this game." Each team scored in the last quarter to make the final score read, 21-7, Clemson.

The now 85-year-old Clemson coach says that he knew Tech Coach Bill Alexander better than Dodd. "I remember I was off recruiting somewhere down in Georgia and I got a call from Coach Neely. He said they were leaving Clemson and going to Rice. On the way back to Clemson I stopped in Atlanta to see Coach Alex," Howard remembers. "What do you think about me being head coach at Clemson," Howard inquired.

"Boy you got any guts,?" Coach Alexander asked Howard.

Without a pause, Howard announced: "Yes sir, I got plenty of guts."

"Well, if you're telling the truth," Coach Alex continued, "you'll stay at Clemson." And Howard says that was one of the strong factors for his decision not to go to Rice. But Howard and the Tigers never had much luck in Atlanta with the Yellow Jackets and Dodd.

On one trip Clemson was driving for what would have been the winning score late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers ran three straight plays and Tech had 12 men on the field on each one and there was never a flag dropped. The Clemson coaches caught the mistake while watching the film Sunday morning, and soon afterwards, Dodd called Howard and apologized for the mistakes, but, "he didn't offer to replay those three plays," Howard noted.

The Clemson-Tech series started in the late 1890's. After the Tigers drubbed the Yellow Jackets, 73-0, in 1903, Georgia Tech had had enough and hired Clemson coach John Heisman out from under us. Heisman had pulled a slick one on Tech in 1902.

When the train bearing the Clemson players and baggage arrived in Atlanta the day before the game, the Tech supporters made it a point to entertain the Clemson players royally. Tech people marveled at the ease in which Clemson players sneaked out that night to attend and participate in wild parties around town. The Tigers did quite a bit of eating and drinking, and the more they indulged, the more money Tech supporters put on the Jackets and the more confident the Tech players became.

Clemson won the game, 44-5, and Tiger faithful brought a lot of Tech money home with them because Heisman had outsmarted the Yellow Jackets.

Heisman had sent a group of red-shirts or bohunks as they were called then, to Atlanta while keeping the varsity in Lula, Georgia a small town some 60-plus miles from Atlanta the night before the game.

Clemson's 'real team' came into Atlanta Saturday morning ready to play.

Howard got a victory ride from his players when the Tigers defeated Georgia Tech in Atlanta in 1969.
